Bomb Damages Biggie's Home

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A bomb extensively damaged the fashionable home of Julius (Biggie) Garagani late Monday night in a St. Louis suburb. No one was injured in the blast.

Garagani is the partner of former St. Louis Cardinals baseball star Stan Musial in a St. Louis restaurant called Stan and Biggie's. He is also active in local Democratic activities.

Mrs. Garagani was alone in the home when the blast occurred. The first person on the scene was Musial, who lives in the same block.

Assistant Police Chief James Chapman said a number of sticks of dynamite had been set on the ground at the corner of the one-story, 10-room brick house. Chapman said the foundation was shattered and the front of the home was nearly demolished.

The explosion occurred outside the bedroom window of Garagani's 22-year-old son, John. He was working at the restaurant at the time of the blast.

Garagani did not learn of the explosion until he returned to St. Louis early Tuesday from Jefferson City, Mo. He said "I can't imagine who did this."

Judge Fines Three

Of seven cases before Judge M. E. Montgomery in this morning's session of Magistrate Court, three were fined for driving with no operator's licenses.

Those in court to answer for the no driver's license charge were Charles Freeman, Lilbourn, Theodore Smith, 228 Alabama, and Isaac Brown, Benton.

Each of the three was fined $5 and costs.

Willie Sims, Benton, waived his preliminary hearing on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon and was bound over to appear in Circuit Court.

Jimmie Robinson, 314 Daniel, had two charges, minor possession liquor and improper muffler, continued until next week.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Police Lieutenant William Ogles gave a talk to parents on a safety program, warning them of the danger of skateboards. Later that day, his 16-year-old son, Buddy, broke a collarbone while using a skateboard.

Beserk Youth Injures Three

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A pedestrian was injured fatally and two other persons were hurt in separate accidents as a 17-year-old youth went on an hour-long rampage through the city in three stolen vehicles Monday.

Police said the youth was Michael Christopher Howell of Jacksonville, Fla., who has been in Kansas about two weeks, visiting relatives.

Howell, struggling and cursing was taken to the psychiatric Receiving Center after he was captured.

Patrolman Tony Trujillo, who made the capture, said Howell tried to run over him after the officer cornered the fugitive on a dead-end road. Trujillo fired two shots at the car and jumped out of the way.

The stolen car soon ploughed into a ditch and Trujillo pulled the youth from the car and handcuffed him.

Police gave this account of the affair:

The pedestrian, Alison Richardson, 53, was knocked down by the first pickup truck. He died about five hours later.

The truck climbed the open door of a stalled car that was being pushed by Richard Hueton 19 and a friend. Hueton was injured. His condition is satisfactory.

Louis A. Raab, 20, was slugged by the youth, then knocked down by the truck after Raab's car was rammed several times by the truck at a stoplight. Raab suffered a shoulder injury.

The first truck was abandoned. Howell hitched a ride in an other pickup truck, threw the driver out and drove on until he rammed an embankment in Grandview, where he stole the car.

Mother's Sons In World Hot Spots

Dennie L. Briggs

Charles S. Briggs

Two brothers, Dennie and Charles Briggs, sons of Mrs. Norma Briggs of 121 Sixth St., are now serving in the armed forces in the two hottest spots in the world -- Viet Nam and Santo Domingo.

Pfc. Dennie L. Briggs, Comp. B First 508 Inf., 82 Air Born ABN Division is now serving with the U. S. Army paratroopers in Santo Domingo. He has been there since May 18, and will remain until September. A 1964 graduate of the Sikeston Senior High School, he took his training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., where he joined the paratroopers Sept. 10, 1964.

Pfc. Charles S. Briggs, 502 AVN, BM, has been in Viet Nam since June 3. He also received his training at Fort Leonard Wood and joined the paratroopers Aug. 6, 1964. His last letter, dated June 18, said he spent most of his time in the air. He attended Sikeston Senior High School.

Youngsters In Youth Corps Are Taking Full Advantage

Yesterday marked the opening day of Scott County's "Neighborhood Youth Corps" program for more than 120 enrollees. Some of the young men and women participating in the program have been assured that after the initial ten weeks of the Corps is completed they will become regular employees, according to county supervisor H. F. Clare.

The program is set up in four different communities, Sikeston, Oran, Benton and Illinois. Sikeston has the largest number of participants with 50. Benton is next with 42, Oran has 20, and Illinois 14.

H. F. "Bill" Clare, Scott county project supervisor, said, the program "is designed to help young people who need financial aid."

He also commented that young people, both in and out of school, between the ages of 16 and 21, have been employed in various schools as well as governmental and state agencies in the county.

Leon Garnett, manager of the Sikeston office of the State Employment service, urges that all area businessmen and employers to re-examine their summer hiring plans in the light of President Johnson's Youth

Opportunity Campaign announced May 23.

His office, at the direction of the President, has established a special job registry for local youth.

He also pointed out, "Many employers traditionally have hired extra help during the summer months, particularly from among high school and college students. These employers have found from experience that it pays to establish contact with this potential source of manpower. We hope that this year our local employers can hire one more boy or girl than he normally would."

The Youth Corps' 10-week working session is sponsored by the Missouri State Human Resources Corporation, representing the combined resources of the departments and divisions of the state government as well as local schools to provide young men and women with working experiences and richer backgrounds.

Warren Moss, state director of the program, says the program operates under the United States Department of Labor as outlined in the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

According to Moss Missouri is the only state in the nation to have the program going with such magnitude.

Enrollees in the program are employed in the Employment security office, several county offices at Benton and the county health office.

Clare has moved from his home in Sikeston to live in Benton.

For the past six years he served as principal to the Scott County high school. This next school year he is to be the principal at Northwestern high school in Polymers, Ill.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. fighter-bombers made their deepest penetration of North Viet Nam today and for the first time poured bombs and rockets into targets north of the "Hanoi Line."

A U.S. spokesman said one raid was against army barracks at Son La, 110 miles west north-west of Hanoi and only 80 miles from the Red Chinese border. It also was 55 miles from Dien Bien Phu, where the French army went down to final defeat in Indochina.

Eight U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs dropped 17 tons of 750-pound general purpose bombs on the complex, destroying 20 buildings and damaging nine others, the spokesman said.

The Thunderchiefs, escorted by 20 other planes, were over the target for 30 minutes, the spokesman said.

Another group of eight Thunderchiefs with the same 20 escorts attacked the Van Nuoc Chien ammunition depot 70 miles west northwest of Hanoi, the spokesman said. Moderate damage was reported to the target, an indication that there were no secondary explosions caused by exploding ammunition.

No enemy aircraft were sighted and anti-aircraft fire was light to moderate, the spokesman said.

The previous northernmost penetration of North Viet Nam was a U.S. Navy strike against Hon Gay, 75 miles east of Hanoi. This was during the August 1964 Gulf of Tonkin crisis.

The nearest raid to Hanoi was 45 miles to the south earlier this year.

In all, some 60 U.S. and Navy planes dropped about 300 tons of bombs on widely scattered targets in North Viet Nam today, U.S. spokesmen said. Targets included barracks, supply depots, bridges and ferries.

A U.S. Air Force pilot bailed out of his F100 Super Sabre Jet 25 miles south of Da Nang, in South Viet Nam, and was quickly picked up by an American helicopter. The plane was not hit by enemy fire, a U.S. military spokesman said.

In Saigon, a Viet Cong terrorist shouted "Down with the Americans" as he died before a firing squad for trying to blow up an American billet in a Saigon suburb.

The defiant Communist, Tran Van Dang, 25, was executed at dawn in Saigon's central market square while newsmen and photographers watched.

Dang began shouting Communist slogans as he was hauled from the van. A Catholic priest stood near him for a moment, but the terrorist paid no attention.

As he was being tied to the stake in a sandbagged enclosure, Dang repeatedly shouted in Vietnamese "Long live Ho Chi Minh," the president of Communist North Viet Nam.

The squad took position, fired and Dang's head sagged forward. An officer administered the coup de grace with a pistol. The execution took about one minute.

Police picked up Dang March 20 as he was setting a fuse to an explosive charge hidden in his motor scooter outside an American billet in suburban Gia Dinh. Police found a plastic charge, a battery-operated time device and two fuses in the luggage compartment of Dang's scooter.

Police said Dang confessed he was trying to blow up the building. He pleaded guilty at a military trial April 9.

'Stay There' Bundy Says In Viet Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Presidential adviser McGeorge Bundy confronted critics of the Johnson administration's Viet Nam policies Monday and said "the policy which the United States is now following is the best policy in a difficult and dangerous situation."

That policy, Bundy asserted, "is that we should stay there, that we should do our part, as may become necessary, to do what is necessary... and seek constantly, as we have for months and months, to find a way to get this dangerous and difficult business to the conference room."

Speaking for the critics, Dr. Hans Morgenthau, professor of political science at the University of Chicago, said, "I think our aim must be to get out of Viet Nam but to get out of it with honor." He rejected the idea of an immediate withdrawal and said the United States should seek face-saving devices to rectify the situation, such as the French achieved in their withdrawal from Algeria.

A brisk clash between Bundy and Morgenthau highlighted the hour-long special CBS television and radio program, although there were similarities in the practical steps urged by the two men. Altogether, six foreign policy experts took part in the discussion — three for each side. No new proposals were offered.

"Within the framework of the choice available to us," Bundy

Airport May Get $10,000

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- A catchall appropriation bill, the last bill of the session, won preliminary approval in the house Monday.

The appropriation bill will allow the city of Sikeston $10,000 for a 1,000-foot extension of the runway at the municipal airport.

The bill carries $17 million in general revenue including $10,015,000 to cover an increase in state aid for schools.

The House defeated a Republican move to restore that figure to $24.5 million—the amount approved earlier by the House in another bill.

The bill includes money for a number of new programs approved in earlier legislation, including $120,000 to set up sheltered workshops for the handicapped and $3.6 million to establish nine new mental retardation clinics.

The first state payments for water storage in federal reservoirs would be covered by an initial allotment of $100,000.

Another $160,000 is intended to operate new four-year colleges at St. Joseph and Joplin for the first year. They are junior colleges now.

One $816,000 allotment will increase state aid for tuberculosis patients in St. Louis and Kansas City hospitals and $436,680 more is provided to step up payments for foster home care in the two metropolitan areas.

Senate Battle Looms On State School Aid

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A Senate battle shaped up today on a bill to increase state aid to schools by $10 million a year.

Pending was an amendment by Sen. T. D. McNeal, D-St. Louis, to restore the present law's formula for state aid. He said the bill would favor rural districts at the expense of urban ones.

The House passed a bill calling for a $24.5 million increase but that was trimmed back to $10 million at the request of Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

Two other key administration bills were passed by the Senate Monday and sent to the governor.

One would set up a chemical breath test for suspected drunken drivers. If a driver refused to take the test his license would be suspended for a year.

Similar bills have been defeated in the last two sessions. It is a key measure in the governor's traffic safety program.

The other would transform the present 3 per cent sales tax into a gross receipts tax.

It was passed 21-9 after Lt. Gov. Thomas F. Eagleton ruled out of order for the second time an attempt to put a bracket system in the bill to start the tax at 15 cents instead of 25. A separate bracket system bill is farther down on the Senate docket.

The Senate accepted House changes in the chemical test bill without argument.

One would require an arresting officer to have reasonable cause for suspecting a driver was intoxicated and requiring him to take the breath test. Another was a saving clause to preserve the rest of the law if any part of it is knocked out by the courts.

Also sent to the governor was a bill to permit banks to set up drive-in facilities within 4,000 yards of the parent bank instead of the present 1,000-yard limitation.

A bill which was linked with the facilities bill during its passage through the House is stuck in the Senate Economics Committee. It would lower the interest rates on state invested surplus money.

A bill which was linked with the facilities bill during its passage through the House was approved today by the Senate Economics Committee. It would cost the state an estimated $1 million in lower interest returns on invested state surplus money at present rates.

It will be at the tail end of the jammed Senate docket.

In addition to extending the distance for facilities, the bill passed Monday would allow the drive-in banks to accept loan payments and sell cashier's checks and drafts, which they can't do now.

Sen. Noel Cox, R-Oran, said "All it does is make the richer richer." He and other opponents charged it was a step toward branch banking, rejected by the voters in 1958.

The House passed and sent back to the Senate a bill that would require state agency directors, instead of the state purchasing agent, to keep a continuing inventory of state property worth more than $10.

It was recommended by the "Little Hoover" commission.

Sent to the governor by the House was a bill to let Jackson County issue bonds to build a giant $40 million sports complex for baseball, football and other sports. The site has not yet been determined.

Thousands Flee River

Thousands of persons fled the rampaging Arkansas River today as it continued its destructive swath across Kansas.

The torrent of water, ranging from one to five miles wide, moved ponderously into Larned early today after more than 1,000 persons moved from their homes in the southeast part of the city.

At Great Bend, 35 miles downstream, another 3,000 persons prepared to move before the crest, traveling about 2 miles per hour, hits there later today.

The flood was spawned by last week's torrential rains in Colorado where flood damage may total $125 million.

Adding to the havoc were heavy rains in scattered parts of the Kansas flood region Monday night. Jetmore, north of Dodge City, got 3.75 inches of rain in two hours, 2 inches or more fell in about one hour at Larned and Great Bend, and 1.65 fell at Rozel, west of Larned.

The flood waters continued to recede at Dodge City, where 1,800 were forced from their homes over the weekend.

At Garden City, where 300 families were left homeless, residents were wading in the remnants of the worst flood in the city's history late Monday when a dust storm blew in on southerly winds of 40 knots, cutting visibility to less than a block.

The water at Larned was expected to exceed the high marks of 1942 and 1951 by 4 to 5 feet, which would place all the

Suspected Car Thief Proves Slippery Again

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Johnny Dewayne Flanagan, suspected of car theft, was picked up yesterday by the police here as he and his brother, Roger, were hitchhiking north on highway 61.

Flanagan jumped from the patrol car as it stopped for a stop light while enroute to the police station and has not been seen since.

He was reportedly going under the alias of Bud Brown. Saturday night he was spotted by the Sikeston Police who chased him to the junction of Tanner Road and highway 61 north of the city, where he escaped on foot.

His brother, still in custody, told the authorities he believed his brother would go to St. Louis.

Johnny Flanagan is suspected of stealing a car in Louisville, Ky.

Youths Hurt In Area Accidents

Two youths were injured yesterday in Troop E area when a 1952 Ford pickup failed to make a curve after the driver, a juvenile, lost control. John H. Mitchell, 11, St. Marys, a passenger, was thrown out. The accident happened at 10 a.m., four miles west of Brewer in Perry county. Both youths were taken to the Perryville hospital.

No injuries were reported, but two vehicles were damaged in an accident in Portageville Monday at 9:30 p.m. A 1960 Ford pickup was parked in the city limits on Highway 61 by Robert Gee, 39, Portageville, when a 1955 Buick, driven by Vardaman Stevens, 34, Portageville was crossing the highway and ran into the side of the Gee truck.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Tuesday, June 22 Sir Edward Shrine well suited for seat in the British cabinet.

THOSE BRITISH GPs

Britain's general practitioners of medicine, meeting on Wednesday, June 23, are expected to vote to withdraw the resignations from the National Health Service which they submitted -- undated -- last March 24. The resignation ploy was a kind of polite blackmail to force N.H.S. to come through with overdue readjustments of economic and practitioner arrangements.

Some 98 per cent of Britain's doctors are signed up with N. H. S. And some 98 per cent of the population uses the Service, excluding only the well-heeled or the elderly who want more individual attention than N.H.S. can provide.

General practitioners had long been on the bottom of the British health totem pole. They were angered that specialists and the medical hierarchy dipped off the cream of N. H. S. payments. They claimed with much justification that they were overworked and ill-equipped. Moreover, they lived "under the tyranny of patients," who treated them as cogs in the national health machine. Perhaps a sense of lost dignity rankled most. So more than 14,000 family doctors threatened to quit.

Now the government has promised $28 million for loans to help physicians obtain or improve surgeries and equipment, less paperwork, financial assistance for professional help, and a new method of salary payment. Not all of the doctors are satisfied, and a vote to withdraw resignations is not an absolute certainty by any means. But the average British GP is first of all a doctor, so the notices of withdrawal will probably be called back.

NEW STUDY NOTES BIG DECLINE IN EARMARKING OF STATE TAXES

Earmarking tax collections, or assigning a specific state tax revenue to finance a particular state government function, has declined 10 percentage points since 1954, a new Tax Foundation, Inc., study showed.

While taxes have been earmarked for everything from Confederate pensions (Louisiana and Texas), to sick fishermen (Alaska), the bulk of earmarked revenues, said the study, goes to education, highways and welfare.

Earmarked State Taxes, updating an earlier pioneering study made by the Foundation, said that from 1954 to 1963 (latest date for which adequate earmarking data are available), the average proportion of earmarked state taxes fell from 51.3 percent to 41.1 percent of total state tax collections.

The decline in earmarking, said the 80-page study, is due to increased rates for non-earmarked taxes and the introduction of new, earmarked state levies, as well as to the removal of earmarking statutes. The dollar value of earmarked taxes increased from approximately $5.7 billion in 1954 to $9.1 billion in 1963.

The study, in outlining major criticisms and justifications of earmarking, noted that critics say "the fact that approximately four out of every $10 collected in state taxes were set aside for specific uses in fiscal 1963 may have hampered effective budgeting in many states."

Another criticism of earmarking statutes, said the study, is that they tend to remain a force after the need for them has passed.

The study cited the continuation in Missouri of a special property tax to pay interest on a state debt which had already been retired.

Despite arguments against earmarking, the study noted, it exists in every state. Among the justifications advanced for earmarking are: earmarking makes it possible to require those who receive the benefits of a governmental service to pay for it; earmarking assures a minimum level of spending for a desired governmental action; earmarking can contribute stability to the state's financial system and "can induce the public to support new or increased taxes."

In this core, the study said: Earmarking has been utilized frequently as a sugar-coating which helps overcome resistance to the introduction of a new and unpopular tax, raising the rates on an existing tax.

While 41 percent of total state tax collections (1963) were earmarked for various functions: education, highways, welfare, etc. -- states, said the study earmarked more than percent. For example, Alabama earmarked percent of its total collections; almost half percent went for education, 26 percent for highways in 1963.

At the other end of the scale, said the Foundation, six states, New York, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Hawaii, Alaska and Delaware, earmarked 10 percent or less of total tax collections in 1963. New Jersey earmarked 2 percent; Delaware, 3 percent; Rhode Island, 4 percent; New York, 10 percent; Connecticut, 23 percent; and California, 28 percent.

A "horse and buggy" cure may be the answer to one of today's most frequent accident causes, a factor second only to speed as a contributor to accidents. The problem is the increase in accidents caused by driving to the left of the center line on a highway.

As a contributor to accident fatalities, crossing the line has become the second most commonly noted factor and has increased considerably since 1960. In that year, one of ten accidents was caused by driving left of the center line; in the most recent year for which 12 months of statistics are available one of seven accidents was caused this way.

The "horse and buggy" cure was found, back in 1911, by a Michigan highway commissioner for Wayne County. Edward Hines, in that year, saw an auto almost collide with a horse and buggy on a narrow bridge. He realized that neither of the drivers could tell where the center of the bridge was--so he painted lines on bridges, and later did the same on highways.

Other techniques have been tried since -- such as rumble strips and dividers -- with best results coming from divided highways. Dividing highways, however, is hardly feasible for the millions of miles of existing streets and highways.

So, the best present and possible answer to the increasing rise in left-of-center accidents is the use of painted lane markings, no-passing lines, road - edge striping and similar devices. These are far more effective when reflective materials are used so that the stripings for lanes and edges can be seen at night, when a driver's vision is limited and it's easiest to misjudge the road's edge or center. Short of physically keeping cars apart -- as with fences or divided highways-- the next best answer is highway marking and the use of delineators so that the driver knows when he is or isn't driving in the right lane. And these, of course, should be as useful at night, by using reflective materials, as they would be in daytime.

Nothing in the world has put so many people on their feet as the alarm clock.

CONCRETE GIANT

Grand Coulee Dam in the state of Washington is the largest concrete structure in the world.

IRASCIBLE ICHABOD

Thanks to a Boston Tory who has an over-eager desire to make money, the first sea battle of the American Revolution occurred. It might be said that Ichabod Jones went overboard in his quest for fortune that day in June, 1775. Ichabod loaded two sloops with various supplies and set sail for Boston for Machias, Maine. Jones expected to trade the supplies for wood which he could sell in Boston.

Ichabod could not foresee that his greed would cost his British friends dearly. But he did see the virtue in taking along some protection in the form of the armed British schooner Margaretta, commanded by a midshipman named Moore. At Machias, Ichabod waited restlessly as the rugged woodsmen gathered, in keeping with tradition, to discuss whether the town would trade with him. Ichabod decided to hurry matters by ordering the Margaretta in close to shore. He figured the town just might be intimidated by having the schooner's guns brought to bear upon the populace.

The gesture was not lost upon the townsfolk; they voted to trade with Ichabod because they were virtual prisoners of war anyway. The irascible Ichabod, with a characteristic proclivity for doing the wrong thing, then made another mistake; he decided to trade only with those who had voted "yes" at the trade meeting.

Left out were Jeremiah O'Brien and some friends who felt that Ichabod sorely needed a lesson in social amenities, and that such a lesson should teach him that social niceties do not include holding up a whole town. The punishment should definitely fit the crime, so they decided to kidnap Ichabod and Moore. When the plan backfired, Moore scrambled aboard the Margaretta. The slippery Ichabod, calculating most correctly that all was lost, disappeared in the woods.

By dawn of the next day, June 12, 1775, Moore decided it would be wise to sail away fast. He sailed too fast. He put up so much sail that the main boom splintered. To make matters worse, O'Brien was in close pursuit aboard the Unity, one of Ichabod's two sloops. The plan of punishment had indeed presented itself. Since Ichabod had seen fit to hold up the town with the ship's guns, the town saw fit to make off with Ichabod's boats.

The wood which had been loaded on the Unity was used to build a protective breastwork. And now, the first sea battle of the Revolution was underway. The ships came into close quarters, muskets roared, and men fell mortally wounded.

Soon, His Majesty's schooner Margaretta was boarded and taken. It was the first vessel of the British Navy to surrender to the Rebels. And all because Ichabod had an itch to be rich.

Whether or not you are doing much freeway driving right now, you soon will be. The freeway is destined to be the main through-travel highway of the future. The completed interstate system alone will carry 20 to 25 per cent of all United States traffic.

The interstate highways and other highways of the same high standards of construction are designed for fast, uninterrupted movement of large volumes of through traffic and to minimize probability of accidents.

The new superhighways are different than the two lane roads. Many hazards are gone. There are no crossings. Visibility ahead is almost unlimited. There are no pedestrians and opposing traffic lanes are divided. Yet, the special characteristics of this type of highway create driving conditions that call for a new set of driving habits.

Colonel Hugh H. Waggoner, Superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol, commented on freeway driving. He said: "Getting on a superhighway is different from entering the ordinary highway. On older roads it is necessary to stop, then pull on the main highway when traffic is clear. This is not so on the expressway. While in the entry ramp and acceleration lane, it is necessary to match the speed of traffic and blend in.

"Driving at a steady speed is just as important, or perhaps more important, on the superhighways than on conventional roads. You do not pick your own pace. The pace set by the majority is the safe speed, even if it is faster or slower than you would like.

"Getting off the expressways or superhighways requires alert driving also," the Colonel continued. "One must maintain speed until the turn into the exit lane is made, then quickly slow to a speed low enough so that the sharp curves of the ramps may be made safely.

"Freeways are the safest means of motor travel yet devised. Studies have shown that high quality freeways have fatality rates, in terms of miles driven, which are considerably less than those on the ordinary main highways. All drivers should know how to use freeways enjoyably, safely and efficiently," Colonel Waggoner concluded.

THE DEMURE SPY

No intelligence system could have asked for a better spy than Lydia Darragh--a small, almost frail, Philadelphia housewife. Her religion and simple daily life were perfect covers for espionage.

First of all, the British trusted her; she had been given a free movement pass by General Howe, supreme British commander in the colonies. Secondly, Lydia was a Quaker and would presumably not participate in war. Apparently, Lydia felt that spying might save lives. In her case, that is exactly what happened. A third point in her favor was her home, which was across the street from Howe's headquarters. And one room had been commandeered as a British conference chamber.

Lydia's big part in the American Revolution occurred in December, 1777. A British officer instructed the Darraghs to retire early on the night of December 2 so that a group of high-ranking officers could use the conference room "without interruption."

Listening through a thin partition, Mrs. Darragh heard the officers planning an assault on General Washington's army encamped at Red Bank, Pa., a township near Philadelphia. The attack, on the night of December 4, would be such a surprise, she heard the men say, that the "unprepared enemy army" would be defeated and the rebellion crushed.

The meeting ended suddenly. Mrs. Darragh jumped into bed and heard a British voice say through the door: "See to the candles. Lock the house behind us." Mrs. Darragh did not answer; if they thought she were asleep, they would have no suspicions about being overheard.

The next day, Mrs. Darragh left the house carrying an empty flour sack. Announcing to her family that she was going "into the country to the flour mill," she began her cold trek toward the American lines. The British inspected her pass signed by General Howe and let her through their lines. Near the Rising Sun Tavern, she gave her vital information to one officer, then wrote it down on paper and gave it to a second contact. This was a precaution any good spy would take.

General Washington had been suspicious that the British would try a surprise attack. On receiving Lydia's information, he prepared his army for the "surprise." When it came, the two armies faced each other for almost four days without major action. Thanks to Lydia, the "grand British stroke," was no surprise, and the Red Coats marched back to Philadelphia "like a parcel of fools," as one British soldier described it.

The British interrogated Lydia. Despite the fact that she was pale with fright, they did not guess that this demure Quaker housewife was a clever spy who "gave notice to the enemy of our coming."

Remember to maintain variety by shooting closeups of the zoo inhabitants and visitors, scenes of the children buying popcorn, signs and other familiar zoo props.

Dear Sir: Please replace these slacks. My little 10-year-old daughter only wore them a few times to watch T.V. As you can see for yourself they ripped out in the seat and the crotch and my little daughter tried to mend them.

This was O.K. with me but when the knees broke through, I decided that the Halle Bros. Co. owed me a new pair of slacks.

Yours truly,
Mrs. C-----
P.S.--After you do whatever you have to do to credit my account, please send the slacks back to me because they are no good to you. I can patch them up and my daughter can get a lot of wear out of them. I'll let them out in the seat but they will still be tight. They were too tight for her in the beginning and I told her so but that's the way she likes them.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- Despite the fact that the United States has a firm policy against the proliferation of nuclear weapons, this column can reveal that we have recently delivered to France six expensive KC-135 tanks essential to the delivery of nuclear weapons.

Without these tankers the new French supersonic Mirage bomber could not fly any distance. The Mirage bombers require so much fuel to get off the ground that they have an extremely short range and have to be fueled in mid-air if they are going to make a flight as far as the Soviet Union, considered the No. 1 target in case of war. If fueled in mid-air, the Mirages can reach Moscow and come back to Paris. Otherwise they can't.

Inside fact is that President De Gaulle has been rougher on the United States than Russia. The American embassy in Paris has reported that he has developed almost a passion for opposing the United States, goes out of his way at almost every turn to take a crack at us. As previously reported in this column, he instructed five French diplomats in Latin America to work against the policies of the United States in the Dominican Republic. Only the Chinese have been as anti-American.

In connection with the American policy of preventing the proliferation of nuclear weapons, we have tried to discourage De Gaulle from promoting nuclear development tests.

Despite this, the Defense Department, with the State Department concurring, sold France the six KC-135 tankers and is now training French pilots at Bolling Field to fly them.

Note: White House sources said the deal was made before President Johnson took office and that he had not been aware of it.

--MISSISSIPPI SQUABBLE--
Ralph R. Roberts, usually complacent, genial clerk of the House of Representatives, is about as unhappy these days as when this column published the fact that he had driven a government Cadillac all the way to Indiana to see his family.

What makes him unhappy is the demand of liberal Democratic congressmen that he publish the full record of sworn testimony taken in Mississippi showing the denial of Negro voting rights.

Last week, Rep. John Conyers, Detroit Democrat, dropped in to see Roberts at 10 a.m. and was informed that Roberts was not going to print the record of Mississippi's vote exclusion. The record is considered essential by those who seek to unseat Mississippi's congressmen on the ground that a large segment of the people of Mississippi were not permitted to vote. Roberts flatly denied to Conyers that he had ever promised Rep. Philip Burton, D-Calif., he would agree to print the record.

Congressman Conyers departed, came back at 12:30 with five more congressmen--Burton of San Francisco, Gus Hawkins of Los Angeles, Charles Diggs of Detroit, Paul Todd of Kalamazoo, Mich., William Fitts Ryan of New York City, and Robert Nix of Philadelphia. The clerk of the House looked worried.

"Look," challenged Burton, "you promised me ten days ago that you were printing all of this Mississippi record. Isn't that so?"

"Yes, but I also said that I would publish it in conformity with the statutes," replied Roberts meekly.

"Are you calling me a liar?" asked Burton.

"No, I'm not calling you a liar," replied the clerk of the House.

"Well did you or did you not say that you would publish this Mississippi record?"

"I meant that I would publish it according to the statutes," squirmed the clerk.

IDEOLOGICAL BLINDERS
Public and private comments relating to the Dominican Republic in recent weeks stand in strange, striking contrast.

Many of those who speak for publication would have us believe that the Dominican situation is very simple and clear-cut. According to them, there is a "constitutional" government of the people, namely the rebels, and a dictatorial government of the generals. Communists are few and far between, they say, and when we stepped in we hurt our own cause.

But our better reporters, delving more deeply into what people actually think, show us a different picture. They quote men, including keen Latin American observers, who give their private views but will not let themselves be named. Their private views are that the nation and government of the Dominican Republic are in a state of absolute collapse, creating a power vacuum into which communists could have moved with ease if we had not forestalled them. These men see no "constitutional" government in the Dominican Republic today and little hope for such a government there in the near future.

It has indeed become a topsy-turvy world when those among our friends and allies in this hemisphere who know the truth about a communist power grab dare not speak it with their own name attached, while the shrillest and most irresponsible critic of our actions gets worldwide attention.

We should discredit many people who are wearing ideological blinders, which cut off their view of the truth about communist strategy and tactics while always putting American moves in the worst possible light. HLH

DA NANG, South Viet Nam AP -- How long will the war in South Viet Nam last?

The prospect is that victory still is an indefinite number of rice crops away and probably an indefinite number of billions of dollars.

That is, if it is fought to a military conclusion.

Some pessimists hold that victory on the battlefield can be won, if at all, only after decades of steady wearing struggle and that the only sensible solution will result from political negotiations. But no negotiations are in sight.

Some optimists think that a military verdict can be achieved in at most a few years by cutting off the Viet Cong from their supply sources and destroying their strength in the field by the attrition of many battles.

All agree, more or less, however, that military victory will be delayed or rendered impossible if the South Vietnamese fail to maintain a strong central government in Saigon which the people can respect and support.

After being in the country six weeks and talking with scores of people at many levels I wonder if my judgment of the situation is any better than it was after I had been here for six hours.

This is one of those places in which the more you study the less sure you are that you have all the key facts in hand.

I'd like to present the view of some of those I've discussed the war with.

An American colonel: "I thought I was hopeless. But now I have hope. I think the airpower has enabled us to turn the corner. It boosted the morale of the people. I don't know how long it will take but I believe now we can win."

A French businessman: "You can't win with airpower and you can't win by running up and down the roads in armored cars. The French tried that and lost. You can't win except with masses of infantry. Until you do that we are all prisoners here."

An American major: "If we had enough artillery and mop - up units stationed along the Laotian border to intercept their supplies we could whip them in the field. I'd say we could do it in two or three years."

A veteran newspaperman: "The Viet Cong aren't getting weaker, they're stronger. They used to fight as squads, platoons or, at the most, as companies. Now they're organized at the battalion and even regiment level. They hold the countryside. We hold cities. Our air power is hurting them but where are we going to get the manpower to whip them?"

An American sergeant: "If they, the South Vietnamese, can't win with their own guts we can't do it with dollars. This whole country to me isn't worth one drop of American blood. I got out of here in three months and I'll be glad to go."

An American captain: "We can win over here if the American people will just stick with us. If a guy is willing to lay his life on the line to what we're trying to do over here, the people back home shouldn't mind paying a little extra tax money."

Whatever the outcome of the war is, clearly it isn't a struggle for the sunshine soldier or the summer patriot. It's a grinding bewildering in a quest for success.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ray DeRoush

Miss Burlita Sue Alford And Donald Ray DeRoush Are Wed In Home Ceremony

In a simple, single ring ceremony, May 30, Miss Burlita Sue Alford became the bride of Donald Ray DeRoush, Miss Alford is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Alford of Sikeston, and Mr. DeRoush is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie DeRoush, also of Sikeston.

The Reverend Gerald Presley performed the ceremony at 2 p.m. in the home of the bride's parents.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a white eyelet sheath with which she complemented with blue accessories. Her blue veil was secured with a blue satin rose. The couple's attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hollis of Sikeston, sister and brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride's mother was attired in a green flower printed shift with white accessories. The groom's mother wore a beige suit with beige accessories.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a white lace table cloth. A crystal punch bowl centered the table and a wedding cake appointed one end of the table and serving dishes appointed the other. The newlywed couple took a wedding trip to Arkansas and Lake Wappapello.

The groom was formerly employed by Walker's Grocery and is now serving with the United States Navy in Norfolk, Va. The bride is a student at Sikeston Senior High School where she will be a junior this fall.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Charles DeRoush of St. Louis, brother and sister-in-law of the groom, and Mrs. Adie DeRoush of Ft. Knox, Ky., grandmother of the groom.

Reception Is In Honor Of Woodsides' Anniversary

PARMA -- Celebrating their golden wedding anniversary at a reception at the Parma Methodist Church Sunday afternoon, June 13, were Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Woodside.

The event was given by the couple's three children, Mrs. Paul Ebaugh, Cape Girardeau, and Mrs. F. E. Street and Dr. R. M. Woodside, San Antonio, Tex.

The 150 guests present were served from a table covered with a gold cloth and centered with a tiered cake. White tapers in silver candelabra and bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums also appointed the room.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodside were married June 16, 1915, at the home of her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Beach Dunklin in Campbell. Among those present for the ceremony were three of the guests at the anniversary reception: Mrs. Woodside's sisters, Mrs. Ethel Dorris, Hayti, and Mrs. T. G. McKinney, San Antonio, and another of her brothers, Wylie J. Dunklin, San Antonio. Except for 12 years when they resided in Louisiana, Mr. and Mrs. Woodside have lived their married life in and near Parma.

The five granddaughters of the honored couple assisted during the reception. Serving were the Misses Bobby Jo Woodside, Debbie Ebaugh, Diane Street and Clare Street. Guests were registered by Miss Jackie Ebaugh.

Towns represented on the guest register included San Antonio, Tex., Fort Wayne, Ind., Drew, Miss., Jonesboro, Ark., Blytheville, Ark., Hayti, Essex, Cape Girardeau, East Prairie, Sikeston, Malden, Libbourn, Campbell, West Plains, Mountain Grove, Bernie, Steele and Poplar Bluff.

Newcomer News

Hi! This is Jean Jones filling for Orene Gillman, our publicity chairman who is ill in the hospital here.

Our Newcomer meeting for May and June were huge successes. Everyone attending the meetings were in fine trim and ready to make new friends. This is the ideal why should it take many months to get acquainted in a friendly town like Sikeston?

Newcomers attending for first time were: Mrs. Barbara Gatewood and Mrs. Ruth Tripp. Guest speakers for May were Mrs. Allen Hubbard of the Meadow Lane Garden Club, and Mrs. Clint Scott, president of Business and Professional Womens Clubs.

These ladies gave talks which were very interesting and informative. The business meeting was presided over by Sandy Powell, president, and JoAnn Phillips presided over the June meeting in the absence of Sandy Powell. The group voted to give a donation to the Library fund and the Girl Scout Campership fund.

A family picnic is planned for the month of July, also plans for a newcomer bowling league for summer.

We certainly extend our thanks to the officers of the winter bowling league -- Mary Anna Heeb, president; Mary Anderson, vice-president; Barbara Tull, secretary; Phyllis Marshall, treasurer.

New officers for the winter league will be Lois Blacker, president; Jean Jones, vice-president; Margaret Moorman, secretary; Wanda Leonard, treasurer.

Door prizes given were fifteen games of free bowling from Imperial Bowling Lanes won by Barbara Gatewood, and one gallon of paint from Sikeston Lumber Co. won by Lois Blacker.

Bridge prizes were won by Caille Hell and Nell Winstead; Canasta prizes were won by Margaret Moorman and Jo Arthur.

We are glad Loretta Belshelm is home from the hospital doing very well, and also Bonnie Collins who has been in Barnes Hospital. Orene we hope to have you back with us soon.

The July meeting for Newcomers will be in the meeting room of the First National Bank.

Coffee, cards, and a social hour will highlight this event. For more information call GR 1-3015, Jean Jones, hostess for newcomer Greeting Service.

Miss Spencer Is Bride Of Mr. Davidson

Potlatch Crushes Scott City In Vengeance Battle

Sikeston's Potlatch Forest team slapped down Scott City last night 11 to 1.

Potlatch seemed out to make up for their only loss of the season that the Scott City nine dealt them in their first encounter. Potlatch scored in every frame, but the fifth, in piling up their tremendous margin of victory.

Spears went the distance for the Foresters, striking out 8 Scott City hitters, allowing 5 hits, while issuing 4 free passes.

Don Metz and Hunter McClain paced the Potlatch barrage each having 3 hits. Metz, rangy Sikeston shortstop had a triple, while driving in three men for quite a nights work. James and Heacox also had two hits a piece. Heacox had a double and a triple. James also contributed to the power hitting of Potlatch's attack, with a first inning triple.

Player Tops Nagle For Playoff Win

ST. LOUIS AP -- Gary Player, a black-clad little South African with a flair for the dramatic, deftly etched his name among a select list of golf's immortals and said that was enough, he had all he wanted, the money wasn't important.

"The money is immaterial -- the honor is the thing," Player said Monday, after winning the U.S. Open Golf Championship and immediately turned his $25,000 check over to the U.S. Golf Association.

His three-stroke victory over Australian Kel Nagle in the 18-hole playoff made him the first foreign winner in 45 years and only the third man ever to sweep the four big prizes of professional golf -- the U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and the Masters.

He now stands with Gene Sarazen and Ben Hogan at the pinnacle, unattained by any others, the legendary figures of another era or the glants of today.

The forgotten man in golf's Big Three, Player reassured his right to a spot in that company in overwhelming fashion. Arnold Palmer has yet to win the PGA, Jack Nicklaus has yet to win the British Open.

"I have made most of my money and won most of my golfing fame in this country," Player said in announcing his intention to turn the check over to the USGA.

"I feel I owe this country a great deal. I feel it is my duty

Kiwanis And Jaycees Win

Legion and Kiwanis tangled in National League action, with Legion running into the 3 hit pitching of Miller and losing to the Kiwanis nine, 4 to 2. Miller fanned 7 Legion hitters in the contest. Miller got off to a shaky start in the first inning as Legion got two of their three hits in that frame and scored both of their runs. After that frame the little righthander got a hold on the Legion team, never allowing them another run and only one more hit in the contest. The losing pitcher for Legion was Shy, he allowed only 7 hits.

Hackney and Hosey banged out two hits each to pace the Kiwanis attack. Leslie, Miller and Mitchell had the other hits for the winners.

Runnell was the big man for Legion, having two hits. Shy got the other hit for the losers.

Sports TALK

By DON SAVAGE

The Pittsburgh Pirates started their two-day Sikeston tryout camp off and rolling yesterday, with a fine first day turnout of some 42 boys.

Many prominent area baseball stars could be seen going through their various paces.

The men started off the day with a talk in centerfield, explaining what the Pirates were looking for in the young athletes. Chet Montgomery, Virgil Melvin and Al Hoskins were the three coaches who ran the days action for the Pirates.

The boys started out running races of about 75 yards. They were timed and ran in competition against each other. It was a hot day, but the young athletes hustled in the smoldering weather.

Then the boys had a chance to throw. One of the two things a major league team looks for in a tryout camp is a good arm. The other is natural speed. Even a major league team with its fine coaching system can't help a boy that doesn't possess these natural abilities. The Pirates feel they can help a young man with his hitting or fielding, to a certain degree.

There were entries from many area towns, even one boy from Memphis, Tenn. and others from Thebes, Ill. and Greenway and Piggott, Arkansas. All the boys will return to show their stuff again today.

Boys from Sikeston who participated were: Bill Ryan, Tim Garner, Richard Montgomery, Gary Stallings, Larry Scott, Terry James, Chuck Heath, Bobby Gentry, Rudy Manley, John Swinney and Terry Comstock. Other area boys were: Earl Landers, Morehouse; Gary Owens, Vanduser; Pete Ulmer, Benton; Bill Reid, Matthews; Harlin Bryeans, Bell City; Jim Swinney, Catron; Jesse Getter and Ed Moore, Essex; John Brooks, Anniston and Jerry Payne of Lilbourn.

The boys scrimmaged for about 2 hours in this period of time, each pitcher worked one inning. Many fans watched from the bleachers as the athletes went through their paces. It was probably one of their best chances to see the top talent of the area, baseball wise, that is.

Cards Lose To Detroit In Benefit Game 4-0

Even though the St. Louis Cardinals had a day off from National League play, they couldn't call Monday a day of rest.

They met the Detroit Tigers--who have lost only one game in nine outings--in a benefit at St. Louis. The hard-hitting American Leaguers won the contest, 4-0.

Don Wert drove in the first Tiger run in the third inning and winning pitcher Larry Sherry drove in two more for a 3-0 lead.

The loser was Steve Carlton.

The game was played for the St. Louis Symphony's endowment fund. A crowd of 11,693 was on hand.

The Cardinals play a double-header at Cincinnati tonight, sending Bob Gibson 8-6 and Ray Washburn 4-4 against Joey Jay 6-2 and John Tsitouris 4-4.

Kansas City, also idle Monday plays a double-header tonight at New York. The A's John Odomoguhue 3-9 and Fred Talbot 4-4 will face the Yankees' Jim Bouton 3-6 and Bill Stafford 2-4.

Leslie & Canvas Win Contests

At Farris Field last night in the American League, Leslie Insurance added another victory to their list and kept their defeat to only one for the season as they downed Police to 7 in the first game of the night-cap.

Leslie took the lead in the first scoring four runs on two hits while they held Police to only two runs and one hit. As the first frame went into a close and the top of the second came on, Police came back with three runs to take the lead five to four. Then Leslie came to bat in the bottom of the inning, and scored one run tying the game score. Neither team scored until the top of the final frame when Police added two runs to try to take the victory. However, Leslie stopped that as they went on to score two to tie it up again and in the seventh to leave their lone loss uncomplicated.

Shipp, relieving Colwick in the last frame, took the win for Leslie, allowing only 3 to con-

Canvas Products rolled past Security Federal in the last game last night with a score of 11 to 8.

Throughout the full six innings of play Canvas did not let Security tie or pass their score. Each team collected two hits in the first; however, Canvas managed to score four, one more than Security did, in that frame. Canvas pounded in four runs and Security crossed the plate five times in the third inning to take the score to nine to 8. Canvas didn't stop with that, and went on to put two more on to reach the final score, 11 to 9.

Stewart, the starting pitcher for Canvas, and Ryan, pounded two hits a piece for Canvas. Stewart, with help from Shipp in the fourth, took the win for

PRAYER For Today From The Upper Room

TUESDAY, JUNE 22, 1965.
Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. (Matthew 19:19)
PRAYER: Dear Father in heaven, teach us to love Thee as Thou dost love us -- gladly and generously. Show us the way to love our neighbor as we love ourselves. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

ANN LANDERS Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 12-year-old girl with a horrible problem. Nobody likes me. Last year when I was 11 everybody was crazy about me. I was the most popular girl in the whole school. All of a sudden I turned ugly and now I don't have a single friend in the world.

There are times when I am sure my own mother doesn't even like me. She yells at me for no reason at all. When my little brother does some bratty thing that isn't a bit cute she laughs and says, "Look at him, isn't he darling?"

Why has the world turned against me overnight? Has this ever happened to anyone else that you know? I need some advice on how to return to my former popular self. Thank you, MISS JEFFREY.

Dear Miss: I'll bet by the time you read this letter you will have returned to your former popular self -- with no help from me.

Everyone has days when he feels ugly and unloved. Then suddenly he snaps back to his sunny, beautiful self. He loves everybody and he's sure everybody loves him. This is called human nature and so one can explain it.

Dear Ann Landers: Here's a word to Dixie, the woman who wanted to know what to say to people who ask her why she is not married. I am also 32, single and amazed that so many clods have the guts to ask such a personal question.

In my mid-twenties it dawned on me that I might never meet a man I wanted to marry, so I began to plan for my future. I started at the bottom in this organization and I've worked my way up to an executive position.

What gets me is that so many rockheads are concerned about my love life. "What do you do for a man?" they inquire solicitously. "It's not normal," (Can you imagine such cruelty?)

If the Good Lord has decided that I'm going to make this earthy trip solo, I'm going to travel in style, first-class. I take a lovely vacation every year. I drive a new car and I wear a mink coat. So, Dixie, when the slob asks you why you aren't married, look'em in the eye and say, "Just lucky, I guess."

CAREER GIRL
Toots: I like your spirit. Toots, I've said it before and I'll say it again: Marriage is not for everyone.

Dear Ann Landers: My brother is a wonderful person. He is considered smart by everyone who knows him, but when it comes to his personal life I'm afraid he's just plain stupid.

Mel is engaged to a girl who keeps this whole family in an uproar. They are together every evening. He usually gets home about 11:30 p.m. Every fifth or sixth night, after Mel gets home, she telephones him and says she is sick and she needs him. These calls come at about 2:00 or 3:00 in the morning. Mel rushes to her bedside, which of course, breaks up his night's sleep and he is no good at work the next day.

Mother has told Mel that the girl should see a doctor. He says her attacks are not serious and that she needs emotional support. I think she is playing him for a fool in order to get more attention. What do you think? LITTLE SIS

Dear Sis: It takes too long to play that game and your brother seems to be a willing participant. Don't waste any sympathy on a fellow who would allow his girl to run him ragged. He must get satisfaction out of catering to her demands or he wouldn't hold still for the treatment.

Today's Spanish Lesson

NOTE: "Hay", pronounced like our letter I, means "there is". "There are", "is there" or "are there". Simply by changing the inflection of the voice. This valuable "key" can be used as a question or as a statement. For example:

#1. - A) Is there any milk? B) Hay leche? C) I/LAY-leche.
#2. - A) There is milk. B) Hay leche. C) I/LAY-leche.
#3. - A) Is there any bread? B) Hay pan? C) I/pahn.

If there is bread the answer is simply, "est hay" (see/D). If there is no bread the answer is, "no hay" (no/D).

This very useful aid is extensively used in Mexico and South American Countries, and it is perhaps the easiest method of communication.

#4. - A) Is there any beer? B) Hay cerveza? C) I/sair-VAY-sah.
#5. - A) There is not any beer. B) No hay cerveza. C) no/I-sair-VAY-sah.

Isn't that simple? What a valuable aid to Spanish!

to so many generous people. The Brownie Camp was held in Clayton City Park with 92 youngsters attending. Along with our fine adult leaders we had 5 excellent Program Aides, girls who are proving what Scouting can do for you even as you move through Senior High School. Above and beyond these dedicated Girl Scouters mentioned it would be impossible to carry on this week of Day Camping without the devoted effort of the City Park Board and Mr. Ernest Wilson, The Board of Public Works with Mr. Charles Simpson meet our every need in their field. The City Administration is always most cooperative in any matters possible. Even tho we did not have the need, we certainly do appreciate the willingness of the School System to help also with facilities for rainy days.

The 80 older girls that attended Day Camp at the Lyle Bird farm also owe much to many people. Here again we had excellent adult scouters working, but we also had fine Senior Girl Scouts functioning as outstanding leaders. The site being made available by Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Bird is greatly appreciated and service supplied by R.E.A.

is most helpful. The Matthews School was also available for rainy days and was used once. Of course the Daily Standard and their excellent publicity for Day Camp as well as all Scouting activities does a job without which, Scouting in this area would not be nearly as successful.

Boy Scouting that goes something like this "A man never stands as tall as when he stoops to help a boy" applies so well to working with all youth. I'm quite sure the lives of these young girls effected in Day Camping cannot help but make them grow into better, more helpful, respectful adults in the future - in their homes, communities and our country.

This word of thanks comes from Mrs. Bob Hambrick, Director, Oakwood Day Camp-Lyle Bird Farm, Mrs. Maurice Stauffer, her assistant, and Mrs. Joe Dye, advisor.

Bomb Damages Biggie's Home

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A bomb extensively damaged the fashionable home of Julius (Biggie) Garagnani late Monday night in a St. Louis suburb. No one was injured in the blast.

Garagnani is the partner of former St. Louis Cardinals baseball star Stan Musial in a St. Louis restaurant called Stan and Biggie's. He is also active in local Democratic activities.

Mrs. Garagnani was alone in the home when the blast occurred. The first person on the scene was Musial, who lives in the same block.

Assistant Police Chief James Chapman said a number of sticks of dynamite had been set on the ground at the corner of the one-story, 10-room brick house. Chapman said the foundation was shattered and the front of the home was nearly demolished.

The explosion occurred outside the bedroom window of Garagnani's 22-year-old son, John. He was working at the restaurant at the time of the blast.

Garagnani did not learn of the explosion until he returned to St. Louis early Tuesday from Jefferson City, Mo. He said "I can't imagine who did this."

Judge Fines Three

Of seven cases before Judge M. E. Montgomery in this morning's session of Magistrate Court, three were fined for driving with no operator's licenses.

Those in court to answer for the no driver's license charge were Charles Freeman, Lilbourn, Theodore Smith, 228 Alabama, and Isaac Brown, Benton.

Each of the three was fined $5 and costs.

Willie Sims, Benton, waived his preliminary hearing on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon and was bound over to appear in Circuit Court.

Jimmie Robinson, 314 Daniel, had two charges, minor possessing liquor and improper muffler, continued until next week.

'Stay There' Bundy Says In Viet Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential adviser McGeorge Bundy confronted critics of the Johnson administration's Viet Nam policies Monday night and said "the policy which the United States is now following is the best policy in a difficult and dangerous situation."

That policy, Bundy asserted, "is that we should stay there, that we should do our part, as may become necessary, do only what is necessary... and seek constantly, as we have for months and months, to find a way to get this dangerous and difficult business to the conference room."

Speaking for the critics, Dr. Hans Morgenthau, professor of political science at the University of Chicago, said, "I think our aim must be to get out of Viet Nam but to get out of it with honor." He rejected the idea of an immediate withdrawal and said the United States should seek face-saving devices to rectify the situation, such as the French achieved in their withdrawal from Algeria.

A brisk clash between Bundy and Morgenthau highlighted the hour-long special CBS television and radio program, although there were similarities in the practical steps urged by the two men. Altogether, six foreign policy experts took part in the discussion — three for each side. No new proposals were offered.

"Within the framework of the choice available to us," Bundy said, "we can move without restraint against those who have engaged in this aggression from the north."

"We can move toward withdrawal without regard to our obligations to those in South Viet Nam or the political consequences in other countries."

"We can stay roughly where we are essentially the passive role or we can carefully and with a choice of specific ways and means move to sustain our part."

"It is not for me on this occasion, to discuss specifically what steps may come in the future," added Bundy, formerly a Harvard University professor and dean. He said he felt that the present administration stand was "the position of a solid and very strong majority of the Congress and of the people."

Morgenthau led off with an assertion that "I am opposed to our present policy in Viet Nam on moral, military, political and general intellectual grounds."

Discussing alternatives later, however, he said that "by far the most acceptable from my point of view" is a recent suggestion by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., to "try to hold a few strong points on the coast of Viet Nam, proving to the Viet Cong that they cannot win a military victory, and on that basis try to negotiate with them in the fall."

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, made this suggestion in a Senate speech last week.

Beserk Youth Injures Three

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A pedestrian was injured fatally and two other persons were hurt in separate accidents as a 17-year-old youth went on an hour-long rampage through the city in three stolen vehicles Monday.

Police said the youth was Michael Christopher Howell of Jacksonville, Fla., who has been in Kansas about two weeks, visiting relatives.

Howell, struggling and cursing was taken to the psychiatric Receiving Center after he was captured.

Patrolman Tony Trujillo, who made the capture, said Howell tried to run over him after the officer cornered the fugitive on a dead-end road. Trujillo fired two shots at the car and jumped out of the way.

The stolen car soon pulled into a ditch and Trujillo pulled the youth from the car and handcuffed him.

Police gave this account of the affair.

The pedestrian, Alison Richardson, 53, was knocked down by the first pickup truck. He died about five hours later.

The truck clipped the open door of a stalled car that was being pushed by Richard Hueton 19 and a friend. Hueton was injured. His condition is satisfactory.

Louis A. Raab, 20, was slugged by the youth, then knocked down by the truck after Raab's car was rammed several times by the truck at a stoplight. Raab suffered a shoulder injury.

The first truck was abandoned. Howell hitched a ride in another pickup truck, threw the driver out and drove on until he rammed an embankment in Grandview, where he stole the car.

Senate Battle Looms On State School Aid

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A Senate battle shaped up today on a bill to increase state aid to schools by $10 million a year.

Pending was an amendment by Sen. T. D. McNeal, D-St. Louis, to restore the present law's formula for state aid. He said the bill would favor rural districts at the expense of urban ones.

The House passed a bill calling for a $24.5 million increase but that was trimmed back to $10 million at the request of Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

Two other key administration bills were passed by the Senate Monday and sent to the governor.

One would set up a chemical breath test for suspected drunk drivers. If a driver refused to take the test his license would be suspended for a year.

Similar bills have been defeated in the last two sessions. It is a key measure in the governor's traffic safety program.

The other would transform the present 3 per cent sales tax into a gross receipts tax.

It was passed 21-9 after Lt. Gov. Thomas F. Eagleton ruled out of order for the second time an attempt to put a bracket system in the bill to start the tax at 15 cents instead of 25. A separate bracket system bill is

Youngsters In Youth Corps Are Taking Full Advantage

Yesterday marked the opening day of Scott County's "Neighborhood Youth Corps" program for more than 120 enrollees. Some of the young men and women participating in the program have been assured that after the initial ten weeks of the Corps is completed they will become regular employees, according to county supervisor H. F. Clare.

The program is set up in four different communities, Sikeston, Oran, Benton and Ilmo. Sikeston has the largest number of participants with 50. Benton is next with 42, Oran has 20, and Ilmo 14.

H. F. "Bud" Clare, Scott county project supervisor, said, the program "is designed to help young people who need financial aid."

He also commented that young people, both in and out of school, between the ages of 16 and 21, have been employed in various schools as well as governmental and state agencies in the county.

Leon Garnett, manager of the Sikeston office of the State Employment service, urges that all area businessmen and employers to re-examine their summer hiring plans in the light of President Johnson's Youth

Opportunity Campaign announced May 23.

His office, at the direction of the President, has established a special job registry for local youth.

He also pointed out, "Many employers traditionally have hired extra help during the summer months, particularly from among high school and college students. These employers have found from experience that it pays to establish contact with this potential source of manpower. We hope that this year our local employers can hire one more boy or girl than he normally would."

The Youth Corps' 10-week working session is sponsored by the Missouri State Human Resources Corporation, representing the combined resources of the departments and divisions of the state government as well as local schools to provide young men and women with working experiences and richer backgrounds.

Warren Moss, state director of the program, says the program operates under the United States Department of Labor as outlined in the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

According to Moss Missouri is the only state in the nation to have the program going with such magnitude.

Enrollees in the program are employed in the Employment Security office, several county offices at Benton and the county health office.

Clare has moved from his home in Sikeston to live in Benton.

For the past six years he served as principal to the Scott County high school. This next school year he is to be the principal at Northwestern high school in Polymry, Ill.

Thousands Flee River

Thousands of persons fled the rampaging Arkansas River today as it continued its destructive swath across Kansas.

The torrent of water, ranging from one to five miles wide, moved ponderously into Larned early today after more than 1,000 persons moved from their homes in the southeast part of the city.

At Great Bend, 35 miles downstream, another 3,000 persons prepared to move before the crest, traveling about 2 miles per hour, hits there later today.

The flood was spawned by last week's torrential rains in Colorado where flood damage may total $125 million.

Adding to the havoc were heavy rains in scattered parts of the Kansas flood region Monday night. Jetmore, north of Dodge City, got 3.75 inches of rain in two hours, 2 inches or more fell in about one hour at Larned and Great Bend, and 1.65 fell at Rozel, west of Larned.

The flood waters continued to recede at Dodge City, where 1,800 were forced from their homes over the weekend.

At Garden City, where 300 families were left homeless, residents were wading in the remnants of the worst flood in the city's history late Monday when a dust storm blew in on southerly winds of 40 knots, cutting visibility to less than a block.

The water at Larned was expected to exceed the high marks of 1942 and 1951 by 4 to 5 feet, which would place all the

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers made their deepest penetration of North Viet Nam today and for the first time poured bombs and rockets into targets north of the "Hanoi Line."

A U.S. spokesman said one raid was against army barracks at Son La, 110 miles west north of Hanoi and only 80 miles from the Red Chinese border. It also was 55 miles from Dien Bien Phu, where the French army went down to final defeat in Indochina.

Eight U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs dropped 17 tons of 750-pound general purpose bombs on the complex, destroying 20 buildings and damaging nine others, the spokesman said.

The Thunderchiefs, escorted by 20 other planes, were over the target for 30 minutes, the spokesman said.

Another group of eight Thunderchiefs with the same 20 escorts attacked the Van Nuoc Chien ammunition depot 70 miles west northwest of Hanoi, the spokesman said. Moderate damage was reported to the target, an indication that there were no secondary explosions caused by exploding ammunition.

No enemy aircraft were sighted and anti-aircraft fire was light to moderate, the spokesman said.

The previous northernmost penetration of North Viet Nam was a U.S. Navy strike against Hon Gai, 75 miles east of Hanoi. This was during the August 1964 Gulf of Tonkin crisis.

The nearest raid to Hanoi was 45 miles to the south earlier this year.

In all, some 60 U.S. and Vietnamese air force and U.S. Navy planes dropped about 300 tons of bombs on widely scattered targets in North Viet Nam today, U.S. spokesmen said. Targets included barracks, supply depots, bridges and ferries.

A U.S. Air Force pilot bailed out of his F100 Super Sabre Jet 25 miles south of Da Nang, in South Viet Nam, and was quickly picked up by an American helicopter. The plane was not hit by enemy fire, a U.S. military spokesman said.

In Saigon, a Viet Cong terrorist shouted "Down with the Americans!" as he died before a firing squad for trying to blow up an American billet in a Saigon suburb.

The defiant Communist, Tran Van Dang, 25, was executed at dawn in Saigon's central market square while newsmen and photographers watched.

Dang began shouting Communist slogans as he was hauled from the van. A Catholic priest stood near him for a moment, but the terrorist paid no attention.

As he was being tied to the stake in a sandbagged enclosure, Dang repeatedly shouted in Vietnamese "Long live Ho Chi Minh," the president of Communist North Viet Nam.

The squad took position, fired and Dang's head sagged forward. An officer administered the coup de grace with a pistol. The execution took about one minute.

Police picked up Dang March 20 as he was setting a fuse to an explosive charge hidden in his motor scooter outside an American billet in suburban Gia Dinh. Police found a plastic charge, a battery-operated time device and two fuses in the luggage compartment of Dang's scooter.

Police said Dang confessed he was trying to blow up the building. He pleaded guilty at a military trial April 9.

Youths Hurt In Area Accidents

Two youths were injured yesterday in Troop E area when a 1952 Ford pickup failed to make a curve after the driver, a juvenile, lost control. John H. Mitchell, 11, St. Marys, a passenger, was thrown out. The accident happened at 10 a.m., four miles west of Brewer in Perry county. Both youths were taken to the Perryville hospital. No injuries were reported, but two vehicles were damaged in an accident in Portageville Monday at 3:30 p.m. A 1960 Ford pickup was parked in the city limits on Highway 61 by Robert Gee, 39, Portageville, when a 1955 Buick, driven by Vardaman Stevens, 34, Portageville was crossing the highway and ran into the side of the Gee truck.

Suspected Car Thief Proves Slippery Again

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Johnny Dewayne Flanigan, suspected of car theft, was picked up yesterday by the police here as he and his brother, Roger, were hitchhiking north on highway 61.

Flanigan jumped from the patrol car as it stopped for a stop light while enroute to the police station and has not been seen since.

He was reportedly going under the alias of Bud Brown. Saturday night he was spotted by the Sikeston Police who chased him to the junction of Tanner Road and highway 61 north of the city, where he escaped on foot.

His brother, still in custody, told the authorities he believed his brother would go to St. Louis.

Johnny Flanigan is suspected of stealing a car in Louisville, Ky.

Local Farmers Favor Stoneville

HAYTI, MISSOURI — Cotton farmers in Scott County planted 29 per cent of their crop in the Stoneville strains. Fox 4 strains accounts for 23 per cent, and Deltapine strains 25 per cent. Rex accounts for 20 per cent.
These figures were revealed by the USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, Cotton Division at Hayti, Missouri. This variety survey is conducted annually.
Leading variety for the state is the Stoneville strains, which make up 50 per cent of the total acreage. Rex strains rank second with 19 per cent. Deltapine strains amount to 15 per cent, and other varieties the remainder. Total acreage allotment for Scott County is 16,128 acres for the 1965 crop. Last season the county produced 16,976 bales.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Tuesday, June 22 Sir Edward Shrine well suited for seat in the British cabinet.

THOSE BRITISH GP'S

Britain's general practitioners of medicine, meeting on Wednesday, June 23, are expected to vote to withdraw the resignations from the National Health Service which they submitted -- undated -- last March 24. The resignation ploy was a kind of polite blackmail to force N.H.S. to come through with overdue readjustments of economic and practitioner arrangements.

Some 98 per cent of Britain's doctors are signed up with N. H. S. And some 98 per cent of the population uses the Service, excluding only the well-heeled or the elderly who want more individual attention than N.H.S. can provide.

General practitioners had long been on the bottom of the British health totem pole. They were angered that specialists and the medical hierarchy dipped off the cream of N. H. S. payments. They claimed with much justification that they were overworked and ill-equipped. Moreover, they lived "under the tyranny of patients," who treated them as cogs in the national health machine. Perhaps a sense of lost dignity rankled most. So more than 14,000 family doctors threatened to quit.

Now the government has promised $28 million for loans to help physicians obtain or improve surgeries and equipment, less paperwork, financial assistance for professional help, and a new method of salary payment. Not all of the doctors are satisfied, and a vote to withdraw resignations is not an absolute certainty by any means. But the average British GP is first of all a doctor, so the notices of withdrawal will probably be called back.

If you suffer from nervous tension or anxiety, see your doctor. He can decide whether you need a sedative, tranquilizer or some other form of treatment.

NEW STUDY NOTES BIG DECLINE IN EARMARKING OF STATE TAXES

Earmarking tax collections, or assigning a specific state tax revenue to finance a particular state government function, has declined 10 percentage points since 1954, a new Tax Foundation, Inc., study showed.

While taxes have been earmarked for everything from Confederate pensions (Louisiana and Texas), to sick fishermen (Alaska), the bulk of earmarked revenues, said the study, goes to education, highways and welfare.

Earmarked State Taxes, updating an earlier pioneering study made by the Foundation, said that from 1954 to 1963 (latest date for which adequate earmarking data are available), the average proportion of earmarked state taxes fell from 51.3 percent to 41.1 percent of total state tax collections.

The decline in earmarking, said the 80-page study, is due to increased rates for non-earmarked taxes and the introduction of new, earmarked state levies, as well as to the removal of earmarking statutes. The dollar total of earmarked taxes increased from approximately $5.7 billion in 1954 to $9.1 billion in 1963.

The study, in outlining major criticisms and justifications of earmarking, noted that critics say "the fact that approximately four out of every $10 collected in state taxes were set aside for specific uses in fiscal 1963 may have hampered effective budgeting in many states." Another criticism of earmarking statutes, said the study, is that they tend to remain a force after the need for them has passed. The study cited the continuation in Missouri of a special property tax to pay interest on a state debt which had already been retired. Despite arguments against earmarking, the study noted, it exists in every state. Among the justifications advanced for earmarking are: earmarking makes it possible to require those who receive the benefits of a governmental service to pay for it; earmarking assures a minimum level of spending for a desired governmental action; earmarking can contribute stability to the state's financial system and "can induce the public to support new or increased taxes."

At this core, the study said: Earmarking has been utilized frequently as a var-coating which helps overcome resistance to the introduction of a new and unpopular tax, raising the rates on an existing tax." While 41 percent of total state tax collections (1963) were earmarked for various functions -- education, highways, welfare, etc. -- states, said the study earmarked more than percent. For example, Alabama earmarked percent of its total collections; almost half percent) went for education, 26 percent for highways in 1963.

At the other end of the scale, said the Foundation, six states, New York, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Hawaii, Alaska and Delaware, earmarked 10 percent or less of total tax collections in 1963. New Jersey earmarked 2 percent; Delaware, 3 percent; Rhode Island, 4 percent; New York, 10 percent; Connecticut, 23 percent; and California, 28 percent.

old-digger is a woman after all.

greatest inspiration is a challenge to the impossible.

A "horse and buggy" cure may be the answer to one of today's most frequent accident causes, a factor second only to speed as a contributor to accidents. The problem is the increase in accidents caused by driving to the left of the center line on a highway.

As a contributor to accident fatalities, crossing the line has become the second most commonly noted factor and has increased considerably since 1960. In that year, one of ten accidents was caused by driving left of the center line; in the most recent year for which 12 months of statistics are available one of seven accidents was caused this way.

The "horse and buggy" cure was found, back in 1911, by a Michigan highway commissioner for Wayne County. Edward Hines, in that year, saw an auto almost collide with a horse and buggy on a narrow bridge. He realized that neither of the drivers could tell where the center of the bridge was--so he painted lines on bridges, and later did the same on highways.

Other techniques have been tried since -- such as rumble strips and dividers -- with best results coming from divided highways. Dividing highways, however, is hardly feasible for the millions of miles of existing streets and highways.

So, the best present and possible answer to the increasing rise in left-of-center accidents is the use of painted lane markings, non-passing lines, road - edge striping and similar devices. These are far more effective when reflective materials are used so that the stripings for lanes and edges can be seen at night, when a driver's vision is limited and it's easiest to misjudge the road's edge or center. Short of physically keeping cars apart -- as with fences or divided highways-- the next best answer is highway marking and the use of delineators so that the driver knows when he is or isn't driving in the right lane. And these, of course, should be as useful at night, by using reflective materials, as they would be in daytime.

Nothing in the world has put so many people on their feet as the alarm clock.

CONCRETE GIANT

Grand Coulee Dam in the state of Washington is the largest concrete structure in the world.

IRASCIBLE ICHABOD

Thanks to a Boston Tory who has an over-eager desire to make money, the first sea battle of the American Revolution occurred. It might be said that Ichabod Jones went overboard in his quest for fortune that day in June, 1775. Ichabod loaded two sloops with various supplies and set sail for Boston for Machias, Maine. Jones expected to trade the supplies for wood, which he could sell in Boston.

Ichabod could not foresee that his greed would cost his British friends dearly. But he did see the virtue in taking along some protection in the form of the armed British schooner Margaretta, commanded by a midshipman named Moore. At Machias, Ichabod waited restlessly as the rugged woodsmen gathered, in keeping with tradition, to discuss whether the town would trade with him. Ichabod decided to hurry matters by ordering the Margaretta in close to shore. He figured the town just might be intimidated by having the schooner's guns brought to bear upon the populace.

The gesture was not lost upon the townsfolk; they voted to trade with Ichabod because they were virtual prisoners of war anyway. The irascible Ichabod, with a characteristic proclivity for doing the wrong thing, then made another mistake; he decided to trade only with those who had voted "yes" at the trade meeting.

Left out were Jeremiah O'Brien and some friends who felt that Ichabod sorely needed a lesson in social amenities, and that such a lesson should teach him that social niceties do not include holding up a whole town. The punishment should definitely fit the crime, so they decided to kidnap Ichabod and Moore. When the plan backfired, Moore scampered aboard the Margaretta. The slippery Ichabod, calculating most correctly that all was lost, disappeared in the woods.

By dawn of the next day, June 12, 1775, Moore decided it would be wise to sail away fast. He sailed too fast. He put up so much sail that the main boom splintered. To make matters worse, O'Brien was in close pursuit aboard the Unity, one of Ichabod's two sloops. The plan of punishment had indeed presented itself. Since Ichabod had seen fit to hold up the town with the ship's guns, the town saw fit to make off with Ichabod's boats.

The wood which had been loaded on the Unity was used to build a protective breastwork. And now, the first sea battle of the Revolution was underway. The ships came into close quarters, muskets roared, and men fell mortally wounded.

Soon, His Majesty's schooner Margaretta was boarded and taken. It was the first vessel of the British Navy to surrender to the Rebels. And all because Ichabod had an itch to be rich.

Whether or not you are doing much freeway driving right now, you soon will be. The freeway is destined to be the main through-travel highway of the future. The completed interstate system alone will carry 20 to 25 per cent of all United States traffic.

The interstate highways and other highways of the same high standards of construction are designed for fast, uninterrupted movement of large volumes of through traffic and to minimize probability of accidents.

The new superhighways are different than the two lane roads. Many hazards are gone. There are no crossings. Visibility ahead is almost unlimited. There are no pedestrians and opposing traffic lanes are divided. Yet, the special characteristics of this type of highway create driving conditions that call for a new set of driving habits.

Colonel Hugh H. Waggoner, Superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol, commented on freeway driving. He said: "Getting on a superhighway is different from entering the ordinary highway. On older roads it is necessary to stop, then pull on the main highway when traffic is clear. This is not so on the expressway. While in the entry ramp and acceleration lane, it is necessary to match the speed of traffic and blend in.

"Driving at a steady speed is just as important, or perhaps more important, on the superhighways than on conventional roads. You do not pick your own pace. The pace set by the majority is the safe speed, even if it is faster or slower than you would like. "Getting off the expressways or superhighways requires alert driving also," the Colonel continued. "One must maintain speed until the turn into the exit lane is made, then quickly slow to a speed low enough so that the sharp curves of the ramps may be made safely. "Freeways are the safest means of motor travel yet devised. Studies have shown that high quality freeways have fatality rates, in terms of miles driven, which are considerably less than those on the ordinary main highways. All drivers should know how to use freeways enjoyably, safely and efficiently," Colonel Waggoner concluded.

THE DEMURE SPY
No intelligence system could have asked for a better spy than Lydia Darragh--a small, almost frail, Philadelphia housewife. Her religion and simple daily life were perfect covers for espionage. First of all, the British trusted her; she had been given a free movement pass by General Howe, supreme British commander in the colonies. Secondly, Lydia was a Quaker and would presumably not participate in war. Apparently, Lydia felt that spying might save lives. In her case, that is exactly what happened. A third point in her favor was her home, which was across the street from Howe's headquarters. And one room had been commandeered as a British conference chamber.

Lydia's big part in the American Revolution occurred in December, 1777. A British officer instructed the Darraghs to retire early on the night of December 2 so that a group of high-ranking officers could use the conference room "without interruption."

Listening through a thin partition, Mrs. Darragh heard the officers planning an assault on General Washington's army encamped at Whitemarsh, Pa. The attack, on the night of December 4, would be such a surprise, she heard the men say, that the "unprepared enemy army" would be defeated and the rebellion crushed.

The meeting ended suddenly. Mrs. Darragh jumped into bed and heard a British voice say through the door: "See to the candles. Lock the house behind us." Mrs. Darragh did not answer; if they thought she were asleep, they would have no suspicions about being overheard.

The next day, Mrs. Darragh left the house carrying an empty flour sack. Announcing to her family that she was going "into the country to the flour mill," she began her cold trek toward the American lines. The British inspected her pass signed by General Howe and let her through their lines.

Near the Rising Sun Tavern, she gave her vital information to one officer, then wrote it down on paper and gave it to a second contact. This was a precaution any good spy would take.

General Washington had been suspicious that the British would try a surprise attack. On receiving Lydia's information, he prepared his army for the "surprise." When it came, the two armies faced each other for almost four days without major action. Thanks to Lydia, the "grand British stroke," was no surprise, and the Red Coats marched back to Philadelphia "like a parcel of fools," as one British soldier described it.

The British interrogated Lydia. Despite the fact that she was pale with fright, they did not guess that this demure Quaker housewife was a clever spy who "gave notice to the enemy of our coming."

IDEOLOGICAL BLINDERS

Public and private comments relating to the Dominican Republic in recent weeks stand in strange, striking contrast.

Many of those who speak for publication would have us believe that the Dominican situation is very simple and clear-cut. According to them, there is a "constitutional" government of the people, namely the rebels, and a dictatorial government of the generals. Communists are few and far between, they say, and when we stepped in we hurt our own cause.

But our better reporters, delving more deeply into what people actually think, show us a different picture. They quote men, including keen Latin American observers, who give their private views but will not let themselves be named. Their private views are that the nation and government of the Dominican Republic are in a state of absolute collapse, creating a power vacuum into which communists could have moved with ease if we had not forestalled them. These men see no "constitutional" government in the Dominican Republic today and little hope for such a government there in the near future.

It has indeed become a topsyturvy world when those among our friends and allies in this hemisphere who know the truth about a communist power grab dare not speak it with their own name attached, while the shrillest and most irresponsible critic of our actions gets worldwide attention.

We should discredit many people who are wearing ideological blinders, which cut off their view of the truth about communist strategy and tactics while always putting American moves in the worst possible light. H.L.H.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- Despite the fact that the United States has a firm policy against the proliferation of nuclear weapons, this column can reveal that we have recently delivered to France six expensive KC-135 tanks essential to the delivery of nuclear weapons.

Without these tankers the new French supersonic Mirage bomber could not fly any distance. The Mirage bombers require so much fuel to get off the ground that they have an extremely short range and have to be fueled in mid-air if they are going to make a flight as far as the Soviet Union, considered the No. 1 target in case of war. If fueled in mid-air, the Mirages can reach Moscow and come back to Paris. Otherwise they can't.

Inside fact is that President De Gaulle has been rougher on the United States than Russia. The American embassy in Paris has reported that he has developed almost a passion for opposing the United States, goes out of his way at almost every turn to take a crack at us. As previously reported in this column, he instructed five French diplomats in Latin America to work against the policies of the United States in the Dominican Republic. Only the Chinese have been as anti-American.

In connection with the American policy of preventing the proliferation of nuclear weapons, we have tried to discourage De Gaulle from promoting nuclear development tests.

Despite this, the Defense Department, with the State Department concurring, sold France the six KC-135 tankers and is now training French pilots at Bolling Field to fly them.

Note: White House sources said the deal was made before President Johnson took office and that he had not been aware of it.

--MISSISSIPPI SQUABBLE--
Ralph R. Roberts, usually complacent, genial clerk of the House of Representatives, is about as unhappy these days as when this column published the fact that he had driven a government Cadillac all the way to Indiana to see his family.

What makes him unhappy is the demand of liberal Democratic congressmen that he publish the full record of sworn testimony taken in Mississippi showing the denial of Negro voting rights.

Last week, Rep. John Conyers, Detroit Democrat, dropped in to see Roberts at 10 a.m. and was informed that Roberts was not going to print the record of Mississippi's vote exclusion. The record is considered essential by those who seek to unseat Mississippi's congressmen on the ground that a large segment of the people of Mississippi were not permitted to vote. Roberts flatly denied to Conyers that he had ever promised Rep. Philip Burton, D-Calif., he would agree to print the record.

Congressman Conyers departed, came back at 12:30 with five more congressmen--Burton of San Francisco, Gus Hawkins of Los Angeles, Charles Diggs of Detroit, Paul Todd of Kalamazoo, Mich., William Fitts Ryan of San Francisco, and Robert Nix of Philadelphia. The clerk of the House looked worried.

"Look," challenged Burton, "you promised me ten days ago that you were printing all of this Mississippi record. Isn't that so?"

"Yes, but I also said that I would publish it in conformity with the statutes," replied Roberts meekly.

"Are you calling me a liar?" asked Burton.

"No, I'm not calling you a liar," replied the clerk of the House.

"Well did you or did you not say that you would publish this Mississippi record?"

"I meant that I would publish it according to the statutes," squirmed the clerk.

By this time the indignant congressman from San Francisco had jumped to his feet. Other congressmen demanded to know whether the record had been sent to the government printing office or not. Roberts said it had not.

--IT'S UP TO THE SPEAKER--
They then demanded that printers from the government printing office be brought in. Two roly-poly gentlemen of the GPO were summoned. They too looked scared. Ben Guthrie, technical assistant to the clerk, stood beside them.

"Look here," demanded Burton, "how long does it take to print this record?"

"About a week," was the reply.

"If it was an emergency," asked Burton, "how long would it take?"

"If necessary, we could print it overnight."

"Suppose the record should extend to 7,000 printed pages. How long would it take?" asked Burton. The two printers stood mute.

"It would take six weeks," interposed technical assistant Guthrie.

"If you want to keep your job, shut up," admonished the congressman from San Francisco. "We didn't ask you."

At one point in the effort to pin down Roberts as to whether he would print the Mississippi record, Rep. Conyers of Detroit told him: "You know, being in this room is just like being in the registrar's office at Greenwood, Miss., or Indianapolis, Miss., trying to vote."

The six congressmen finally departed with no definite word from clerk Roberts as to whether he would print the Mississippi depositions. Final decision, they concluded, was up to Speaker John McCormack of Boston, and John is reported to have promised the Mississippi congressmen that he would discreetly delay the drive to unseat them.

Emie G. Harrell, 85, Died Monday

Mrs. Emie Greer Harrell, 85, of Norris City, Ill., died Monday at 8:45 p.m. at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. G. Limbaugh, 603 Sikes.

She was born near Eldorado, Ill., June 6, 1881, daughter of Charles and Nancy Jane Burton. On July 5, 1903, she married Reuben Greer of Sikeston. After his death in 1938, she married S. M. Harrell of Norris City, Ill.

Surviving are one son, Byford Greer of Norris City; one daughter, Mrs. Freda Limbaugh; one grandson and three great-grandchildren.

Training Session For Morehouse Youth Program

MOREHOUSE--In preparation for the opening of the Neighborhood Youth Corps summer program to be held in Morehouse, four teachers attended the orientation conference in Jefferson City on June 12 and 13. These teachers, Mrs. Willa D. Alsop, Mrs. LaRita McIntyre, Fred Clover and John Bohannon will serve as supervisors - counselors for this school community project.

The opening session was held in the Chamber of the House of Representatives with an address by William White, manpower specialist for the Kansas City Regional Office of the U.S. Department of Labor.

The afternoon session in the House Chamber was devoted to section training for the supervisor - counselors, under the supervision of Warren Moss, project director of the Statewide N. Y. C.

The evening session and banquet were held at the Ramada Inn. Lee T. Muth, assistant to the deputy director office of Field Operations Neighborhood Youth Corps was the speaker at this meeting.

On Sunday the supervisor-counselors again met at the Ramada Inn for a discussion and training session.

Publisher Slaps Organized Labor

KANSAS CITY (AP)--A publisher accused organized labor of failing to co-operate with news media, especially newspapers.

"If we had to depend on unions for labor news, there would be a real scarcity," Thomas Vail, publisher of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, told about 1,500 delegates to the Communications Workers of America convention.

"We are sometimes accused of slanting stories, making whipping boys of union leaders, neglecting union news, giving business news the break," Vail said.

"But, where there is a basis, the fault is often labor's," Vail added. "If organized labor is going to take its new place in American society as it sees it, it must first open up to the news media. Labor must never be aloof and suspicious..."

"We think it is high time for trade unions to start respecting the responsible press. We need help to tell your story. Too often you are not giving it. Even if you have reason, or think you have, to be critical of your local newspaper, don't lock it out. When you do, you lock out a primary means of communication with the whole community."

Two Cars Stolen In E Area

Two cars in the Troop E District were reported stolen Saturday, Highway Patrol officers said today.

A 1956 Chevrolet, black over white, was stolen Saturday from a used car lot at Portageville. When last seen, it was headed south on Highway 61.

A yellow 1953 Ford convertible, owned by Russell Parr of East Prairie, was stolen Saturday night at Charleston. The car's license number is ZF1-3577.

Fair is the word to describe June as most of the nation will be high and dry.

Map shows Weather Bureau's estimated forecast of average temperature, precipitation through June 30.

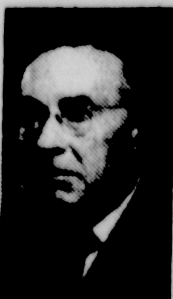

It will be cool in spots, but much of the country will find June a pleasant month.

Inflation

IN the year 1919, John Maynard Keynes, the British economist responsible for Roosevelt's new deal economic policies, quoted Lenin to the effect that the best way to destroy the Capitalist system would be to debauch the currency. Keynes agreed with Lenin on this. Keynes said, "Lenin was certainly right. There is no subtler, no surer means of overturning the existing basis of society than to debauch the currency. The process engages all the hidden forces of economic law on the side of destruction, and does it in a manner which not one man in a million is able to diagnose."

The Congressional Joint Committee on the economic report was aware of the same threat. That Committee advised Congress formally in February, 1951, that "The masters of the Kremlin are counting on this country's being foolish enough to destroy itself internally, thus saving them the necessity of conquering it by military arms. Inflation is the great danger the United States faces, and it is the best weapon of international Communism. Unless this internal danger is met, defense against Communist aggression will crumble."

Between 1953 and 1963, the U. S. dollar declined in domestic purchasing power by an average of 1.3% a year. Steadily mount-business district under water. Sand bags were piled around stores 10 blocks back from the river on the north side.

At Great Bend, store fronts were sandbagged as far as 15 blocks from the normally calm river channel.

Gov. John A. Love of Colorado called the flood "the greatest natural disaster" in that state's history and said he was considering calling a special flood relief session of the Colorado Legislature.

Senate

In a two-hour night session, the Senate killed one bill, passed and sent to the governor four others and referred two measures back to the House with minor changes.

Killed was a bill to let St. Louis and Jackson counties set up pension plans for county employees.

It was defeated 11-15. A proposed constitutional change passed by both houses would submit the same question to the voters.

Sent to the governor were bills to:

Let sheriffs recover costs of returning mental patients to institutions.

Eliminate all references to Lincoln University in Jefferson City as a Negro institution. Two bills would strike all distinction of race regarding students, faculty or administration.

Let the Public Service Commission enter into reciprocity contracts on stickers just as it provided for license plates.

ing inflationary pressures continue to develop in the American economy. Our dollar is now worth roughly 45¢ of 1940 purchasing power. Most of this inflation has been generated by continuing deficits in the federal budget. In 1951 our federal debt stood at 259 billion. Today it is nearly 315 billion.

The most important problem facing this nation today is this problem of inflation. Newspaper headlines continue to draw our attention to southeast Asia, the Dominican Republic, and other trouble spots throughout the world. All of these are important and we must be concerned about them, but meanwhile we should not overlook this problem of inflation which eats like a cancer at the heart of our economy and which could deal us a more tragic blow than all of our international enemies combined.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ray DeRoush

Miss Burlita Sue Alford And Donald Ray DeRoush Are Wed In Home Ceremony

In a simple, single ring ceremony, May 30, Miss Burlita Sue Alford became the bride of Donald Ray DeRoush. Miss Alford is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burlly Alford of Sikeston and Mr. DeRoush is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie DeRoush, also of Sikeston.

The Reverend Gerald Presley performed the ceremony at 2 p.m. in the home of the bride's parents.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a white eyelet sheath with which she complemented with blue accessories. Her blue veil was secured with a blue satin rose.

The couple's attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hollis of Sikeston, sister and brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride's mother was attired in a green flower printed shift with white accessories. The groom's mother wore a beige suit with beige accessories.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a white lace table cloth. A crystal punch bowl centered the table and a wedding cake appointed one end of the table and serving dishes appointed the other.

The newlywed couple took a wedding trip to Arkansas and Lake Wappapello.

The groom was formerly employed by Walker's Grocery and is now serving with the United States Navy in Norfolk, Va. The bride is a student at Sikeston Senior High School where she will be a junior this fall.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Charles DeRoush of St. Louis, brother and sister-in-law of the groom, and Mrs. Adelle DeRoush of Ft. Knox, Ky., grandmother of the groom.

Reception Is In Honor Of Woodsides' Anniversary

PARMA -- Celebrating their golden wedding anniversary at a reception at the Parma Methodist Church Sunday afternoon, June 13, were Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Woodside.

The event was given by the couple's three children, Mrs. Paul Ebaugh, Cape Girardeau, and Mrs. F. E. Street and Dr. R. M. Woodside, San Antonio, Tex.

The 150 guests present were served from a table covered with a gold cloth and centered with a tiered cake. White tapers in silver candelabra and bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums also appointed the room.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodside were married June 16, 1915, at the home of her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Beach Dunklin in Campbell. Among those present for the ceremony were three of the guests at the anniversary reception: Mrs. Woodside's sisters, Mrs. Ethel Dorris, Hayti, and Mrs. T. G. McKinney, San Antonio, and another of her brothers, Wylie J. Dunklin, San Antonio. Except for 12 years when they resided in Louisiana, Mr. and Mrs. Woodside have lived their married life in and near Parma.

The five granddaughters of the honored couple assisted during the reception. Serving were the

Newcomer News

Hi! This is Jean Jones filling for Orene Gillman, our publicity chairman who is ill in the hospital here.

Our Newcomers meeting for May and June were huge successes. Everyone attending the meetings were in fine trim and ready to make new friends. This is the ideal why should it take many months to get acquainted in a friendly town like Sikeston?

Newcomers attending for first time were: Mrs. Barbara Gatewood and Mrs. Ruth Tripp. Guest speakers for May were Mrs. Allen Hubbard of the Meadow Lane Garden Club, and Mrs. Clint Scott, president of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

These ladies gave talks which were very interesting and informative. The business meeting was presided over by Sandy Powell, president, and JoAnn Phillips presided over the June meeting in the absence of Sandy Powell. The group voted to give a donation to the Library fund and the Girl Scout Campship fund.

A family picnic is planned for the month of July, also plans for a newcomer bowling league for summer.

We certainly extend our thanks to the officers of the winter bowling league -- Mary Anna Heeb, president; Mary Anderson, vice-president; Barbara Tull, secretary; Phyllis Marshall, treasurer.

New officers for the winter league will be Lois Blacker, president; Jean Jones, vice-president; Margaret Moorman, secretary; Wanda Leonard, treasurer.

Door prizes given were fifteen games of free bowling from Imperial Bowling Lanes won by Barbara Gatewood, and one gallon of paint from Sikeston Lumber Co. won by Lois Blacker.

Bridge prizes were won by Callie Hell and Nell Winstead; Canasta prizes were won by Margaret Moorman and Jo Arthur.

We are glad Loretta Belshelm is home from the hospital doing very well, and also Bonnie Collins who has been in Barnes Hospital. Orene we hope to have you back with us soon.

The July meeting for Newcomers will be in the meeting room of the First National Bank. Coffee, cards, and a social hour will highlight this event. For more information call GR 1-3015, Jean Jones, hostess for newcomer Greeting Service.

Miss Spencer Is Bride Of Mr. Davidson

MOREHOUSE -- The Rauch-Spence Memorial Morehouse Methodist Church was the scene of a simple but very impressive wedding. The wedding was solemnized Saturday evening, June 12 at 6 o'clock with the pastor, Rev. James Estep performing the single ring ceremony when Miss Jane Marlene Spencer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Spencer of Canolou became the bride of Dwight Allen Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Davidson of Canolou.

The bride was attired in a tan tulle, two piece street length dress featuring a V neckline and short sleeves with white accessories. The bride's only attendant was Helen Bearsley of Canolou who wore a white dress. His attendant was Jerry Hunter of Canolou.

The former Miss Spencer is a junior in Canolou High School. The groom attended high school in Canolou and enlisted five months ago in the Marine Corps. He is stationed at Camp Pendleton, Calif. She will remain with her parents. He left Wednesday, June 16 for duty assigned for one year in Viet Nam. He will leave from his base in California.

Potlatch Crushes Scott City In Vengeance Battle

Sikeston's Potlatch Forest team slugged Scott City last night 11 to 1. Potlatch seemed out to make up for their only loss of the season that the Scott City nine dealt them in their first encounter. Potlatch scored in every frame, but the fifth, in piling up their tremendous margin of victory.

Spears went the distance for the Foresters, striking out 8 Scott City hitters, allowing 5 hits, while tussling 4 free passes.

Don Metz and Hunter McClain paced the Potlatch barrage each having 3 hits. Metz, rangy Sikeston shortstop had two singles and a double and a triple, while driving in three men for quite a nights work. James and Heacock also had two hits a piece. Heacock had a double and a triple. James also contributed to the power hitting of Potlatch's attack, with a first inning triple.

Sikeston is slated to do battle with Bertrand Thursday night at V. F. W. Stadium.

Player Tops Nagle For Playoff Win

ST. LOUIS AP -- Gary Player, a black-clad little South African with a flair for the dramatic, deftly etched his name among a select list of golf's immortals and said that was enough, he had all he wanted, the money wasn't important.

"The money is immaterial -- the honor is the thing," Player said Monday, after winning the U.S. Open Golf Championship and immediately turned his $25,000 check over to the U.S. Golf Association.

His three-stroke victory over Australian Kel Nagle in the 18-hole playoff made him the first foreign winner in 45 years and only the third man ever to sweep the four big prizes of professional golf -- the U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and the Masters.

He now stands with Gene Sarazen and Ben Hogan at the pinnacle attained by any others, the legendary figures of another era or the giants of today.

The forgotten man in golf's Big Three, Player reasserted his right to a spot in that company in overwhelming fashion. Arnold Palmer has yet to win the PGA, Jack Nicklaus has yet to win the British Open.

"I have made most of my money and won most of my golfing fame in this country," Player said in announcing his intention to turn the check over to the U.SGA.

"I feel I owe this country a great deal. I feel it is my duty to do something for this country and for golf."

"So I'm turning the check over to Joe Dey, executive director of the U.SGA and asking him to give $5,000 to the Cancer Fund. My mother died of cancer. The rest, I would like to see funneled into junior golf in this country."

He gave $2,000 to his caddy, Frank Pagel, 16.

The actual prize money was $25,000, but the U.SGA put another $1,000 into the pot for both Player and Nagle after they tied at the end of 72 holes at 282 and the 18-hole playoff went into effect.

Player leaped into command at the start, taking a birdie 4 while the 44-year-old Australian bogeyed the first hole of the vastly frustrating 7,191-yard Bellerive Country Club course.

Player ran in birdie putts of 35 feet each on the next two holes, went 2-up and, for all intents and purposes, it was over. Nagle was never even again.

The close-trotting Australian, who forced the tie when Player blew a three-stroke lead with three holes to play the day before, wrecked his chances with a shattering double bogey on the fifth.

His drive hooked far to the left, into the gallery crowning a small hill, struck a woman in the head and bounded into the rough.

Kiwanis And Jaycees Win

Legion and Kiwanis tangled in National League action, with Legion running into the 3 hit pitching of Miller and losing to the Kiwanis nine, 4 to 2. Miller fanned 7 Legion hitters in the contest. Miller got off to a shaky start in the first inning as Legion got two of their three hits in that frame and scored both of their runs. After that frame the little rightlander got a hold on the Legion team, never allowing them another run and only one more hit in the contest. The losing pitcher for Legion was Shy, he allowed only 7 hits.

Hackney and Hosey banged out two hits each to pace the Kiwanis attack. Leible, Miller and Mitchell had the other hits for the winners.

Runnell was the big man for Legion, having two hits. Shy got the other hit for the losers.

A & B Oil Co. was tromped in the second game of the National League battle by Jaycee's with a score of 11 to 1.

Jaycee's went all the way to topple A & B Oil Co. as they scored in and at least two hits in every frame of the night.

The game was called at the end of the fourth because of the 10-run rule. Jaycee's gave up the only run to A & B Oil Co. in the last frame as Dodd singled and was driven in by Alliston. Jones added the win to Jaycee's.

Sports TALK

By DON SAVAGE

The Pittsburgh Pirates started their two-day Sikeston tryout camp off and rolling yesterday, with a fine first day turnout of some 42 boys.

Many prominent area baseball stars could be seen going through their various paces.

The men started off the day with a talk in centerfield, explaining what the Pirates were looking for in the young athletes. Chet Montgomery, Virgil Melvin and Al Hoskins were the three coaches who ran the days action for the Pirates.

The boys started out running races of about 75 yards. They were timed and ran in competition against each other. It was a hot day, but the young athletes hustled in the smoldering weather.

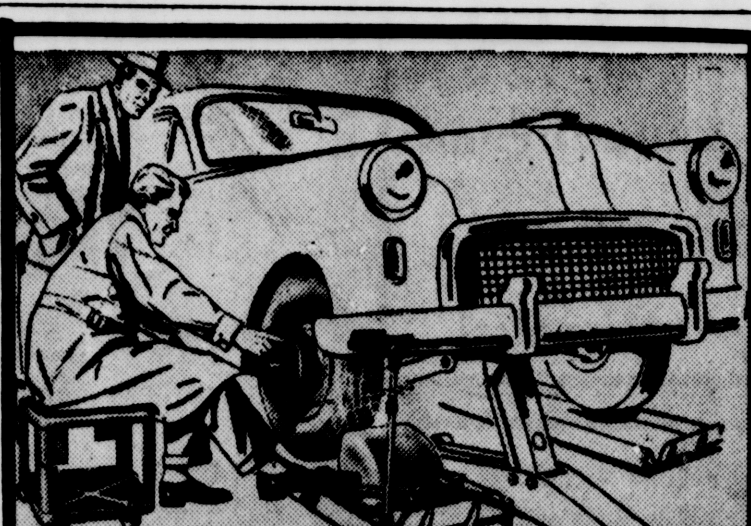

Then the boys had a chance to throw. One of the two things a major league team looks for in a tryout camp is a good arm. The other is natural speed. Even a major league team with its fine coaching system can't help a boy that doesn't possess these natural abilities. The Pirates feel they can help a young man with his hitting or fielding, to a certain degree.

There were entries from many area towns, even one boy from Memphis, Tenn. and others from Thebes, Ill. and Greenway and Piggott, Arkansas. All the boys will return to show their stuff again today.

Boys from Sikeston who participated were: Bill Ryan, Tim Garner, Richard Montgomery, Gary Stallings, Larry Scott, Terry James, Chuck Heath, Bobby Gentry, Rudy Manley, John Swinney and Terry Comstock. Other area boys were: Earl Landers, Morehouse; Gary Owens, Vanduser; Pete Ulmer, Benton; Bill Reid, Matthews; Harlin Bryeans, Bell City; Jim Swinney, Catron; Jesse Getter and Ed Moore, Essex; John Brooks, Anniston and Jerry Payne of Lilbourn.

The boys scrimmaged for about 2 hours in this period of time, each pitcher worked one inning. Many fans watched from the bleachers as the athletes went through their paces. It was probably one of their best chances to see the top talent of the area, baseball wise, that is.

Cards Lose To Detroit In Benefit Game 4-0

Even though the St. Louis Cardinals had a day off from National League play, they couldn't call Monday a day of rest.

They met the Detroit Tigers-- who have lost only one game in nine outings--in a benefit at St. Louis. The hard-hitting American Leaguers won the contest, 4-0.

Don Wert drove in the first Tiger run in the third inning and winning pitcher Larry Sherry drove in two more for a 3-0 lead.

The loser was Steve Carlton.

The game was played for the St. Louis Symphony's endowment fund. A crowd of 11,893 was on hand.

The Cardinals play a double-header at Cincinnati tonight, sending Bob Gibson 8-6 and Ray Washburn 4-4 against Joey Jay 6-2 and John Tsitouris 4-4.

Kansas City, also idle Monday plays a double-header tonight at New York. The A's John Odonoghue 3-9 and Fred Talbot 4-4 will face the Yankees' Jim Bouton 3-6 and Bill Stafford 2-4.

Leslie & Canvas Win Contests

At Farris Field last night in the American League, Leslie Insurance added another victory to their list and kept their defeat to only one for the season as they downed Police 8 to 7 in the first game of the night-cap.

Leslie took the lead in the first scoring four runs on two hits while they held Police to only two runs and one hit. As the first frame went into a close and the top of the second came on, Police came back with three runs to take the lead five to four. Then Leslie came to bat in the bottom of the inning, and scored one run tying the game score. Neither team scored until the top of the final frame when Police added two runs to try to take the victory. However, Leslie stopped that as they went on to score two to tie it up again and one in the seventh to leave their lone loss uncomplicated.

Shipp, relieving Colwick in the last frame, took the win for Leslie, allowing only 3 to con-

Canvas Products rolled past Security Federal in the last game last night with a score of 11 to 8.

Throughout the full six innings of play Canvas did not let Security tie or pass their score. Each team collected two hits in the first; however, Canvas managed to score four, one more than Security did, in that frame. Canvas pounded in four runs and Security crossed the plate five times in the third inning to take the score to nine to 8. Canvas didn't stop with that, and went on to put two more on to reach the final score, 11 to 9.

Stewart, the starting pitcher for Canvas, and Ryan, pounded two hits a piece for Canvas. Stewart, with help from Shipp in the fourth, took the win for

Firecrackers Get Men Shot

WHITTENBERG -- Two Illinois men were wounded at 9 p.m. Sunday when Lewis Mattingly, 89, allegedly shot them with a shotgun.

The two are Paul Ray Miller, 25, Alto Pass, Ill., and Leonard Pullis, 22, Murphysboro, Ill.

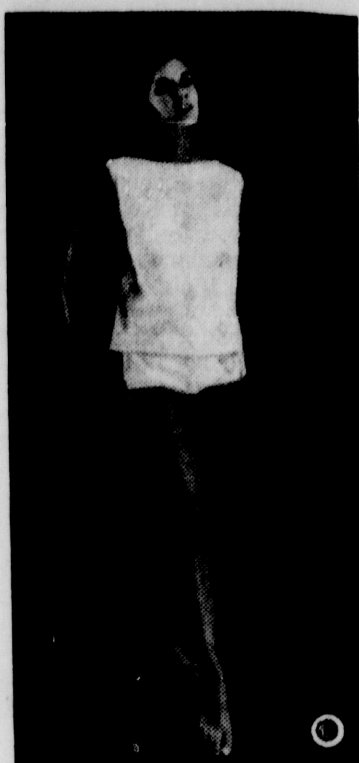

According to the Highway Patrol, Mattingly became angry when the pair began shooting firecrackers and talking loudly in a tavern across from his home.

Mattingly is being held on charges of attempting to kill.

PKU BILL FOR BABIES AWAITS SENATE ACTION

A few weeks ago, a metropolitan newspaper reported that Missouri was in a neck and neck race with neighboring Illinois to see who could enact legislation providing for the mandatory testing of babies for Phenylketonuria, for obvious reasons dubbed PKU.

Well, Missouri has lost this so-called race as Illinois' legislature already has put that state's wheels into motion requiring physicians to test newborns for this inherited defect which, if unchecked, can turn an otherwise healthy infant into a living vegetable.

The story behind Missouri's venture into this area is interesting in that it was an article

In a Reader's Digest, read thoroughly by Rep. Earl Bollinger of Madison County, that prompted legislation to fight PKU.

Bollinger, who tends to speak out on most any subject, is one of the frankest members of Missouri's legislature and currently serves in the position of Assistant Majority Floor leader, a spot he secured after the death of Rep. Pat Patterson of Columbia.

Making no bones about his source, early in this now rapidly-drawing-to-a-close session of the 73rd General Assembly, Bollinger made his views on the subject known and a bill to the effect was drafted and presented to the legislature.

It cleared the Missouri House with ease and has progressed well in the Senate, coming out of committee with flying colors with only a minor (educational association-backed) amendment which doesn't change the measure's context.

Across the nation much attention is being focused on the problem of mental retardations and methods to ease the burden it creates. So, today, four states require that newborns be tested for PKU. It looks at this stage as if Missouri will move into the fifth slot.

Statistically, PKU victims form a minority. For instance, New York made the test mandatory on January 1 and reported one case in every 22,000 births.

However, another state's figures showed one in 6,000. Bringing Missouri more into focus, Bollinger estimates there are some 90,000 babies born each year here. Taking a ratio of one PKU victim in 10,000 births, Missouri stands a chance, using preventative medicine at its best, of saving nine babies a year.

And, saving isn't a term used lightly. Bollinger feels that victims of PKU who go untreated suffer from the severest form of mental retardation. It has been figured that it costs about $2,500 a year for the state to provide for a mentally retarded individual.

Taking a projected figure of nine persons aided annually, the savings to the state, Bollinger indicated, more than offset the nominal costs involved for the test. Not only is there a savings in money but nine persons can be assured of leading a normal life.

LIBRARY BILL FAILS THIS TIME

It's clearly evident that the House bill allowing for the legal establishment of library districts in Missouri with levy taxing authority to levied taxes financing the district will not be approved this time. However, the bill has progressed well and sponsors are assuring library officials that a similar try will be made during the next regular session of the legislature.

For all intents and purposes, the bill resembles the junior college district set-up. Today, individual counties can join with nearby areas to form a library district, but a district-wide tax is impossible.

Under present law, each county must collect its own tax and then place it in a kitty. Under the library district proposal being attempted, such districts could be formed under legal auspices and tax district residents on a more equitable basis.

ETV APPEARS TO BE ANOTHER VAILURE

More and more states are bent on trying the route of a state-operated educational television system (ETV) and Missouri, not to be left in a cloud of dust, was once again presented a proposal to this effect in the current legislature.

But the primary bugaboo remains: coin. . . and a great deal at that.

During the 1963 legislative session, a bill to provide for a state-supported ETV network didn't even clear the House. But this time, the measure has passed the lower chamber and made it to the Senate.

It has been sidetracked into the all-powerful Senate Committee on Economics and Major Expenditures where it is dying quietly.

BOND ISSUE ELECTIONS

It appears now that not only is the measure providing for cutting the required margin for passage of school bonds from two-thirds to 60 per cent in real danger, but the Senate has attached to it Rep. Phillip Scaglia's proposal for limiting the calling of such elections.

As things now stand, the proposed legislation would call for reducing the voter margin for general obligation bonds while placing a four-month limitation on when a defeated issue could be re-submitted.

Scaglia, up in arms over what he feels is shabby treatment, warned that thousands of people who "are tired of being constantly harassed with issue after issue being re-submitted" are the ones who will be vastly disappointed.

"Who is doing something practical in the American tradition of self-help and local action -- to create more job opportunities?"

"And who is training and retraining workers to take advantage of existing job opportunities -- with funds derived from local companies and communities?"

Answer: American private enterprise -- and individual cities and towns across the country.

And now they are being aided by a major, nation-wide program called STEP (Solutions To Employment Problems). Launched by the National Association of Manufacturers, STEP is searching America to find proven, successful ways to create more jobs and to fit people for available jobs.

STEP is offering without charge verified case studies on solutions to such employment problems as how to discover or develop job opportunities within a community, and the most effective methods of job training and retraining to fit individuals for job openings and job changes.

Example: the STEP case study that tells how Chicago business executives teamed up with community officials to start and run the "Jobs For Youth" program in a predominantly Negro area where some 60% of high school students drop out before their sophomore year.

This case study explains in detail how "Jobs For Youth" convinces these young people that someone wants to help them, teaches them that they must contribute something themselves, and shows them -- through practical classroom instruction backed by a job placement service -- how to get and keep a job.

STEP can help your company or community. (Write, outlining your local employment problems.) You can help STEP. (Familiar with a solution to an employment problem? Tell STEP about it.) And get an informative free booklet. Write or phone STEP, National Association of Manufacturers, 277 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10017 -- (212) 826-2100.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems
Dear Ann Landers: I am a 12-year-old girl with a horrible problem. Nobody likes me. Last year when I was 11 everybody was crazy about me. I was the most popular girl in the whole school. All of a sudden I turned ugly and now I don't have a single friend in the world.
There are times when I am sure my own mother doesn't even like me. She yells at me for no reason at all. When my little brother does some bratty thing that isn't a bit cute she laughs and says, "Look at him. Isn't he darling?"
Why has the world turned against me overnight? Has this ever happened to anyone else that you know? I need some advice on how to return to my former popular self. Thank you, MISS JEKYLL.
Dear Miss: I'll bet by the time you read this letter you will have returned to your former popular self -- with no help from me.
Everyone has days when he feels ugly and unloved. Then suddenly he snaps back to his sunshine, beautiful self. He loves everybody and he's sure everybody loves him. This is called human nature and no one can explain it.
Dear Ann Landers: Here's a word to Dixie, the woman who wanted to know what to say to people who ask her why she is not married. I am also 32, single and amazed that so many clods have the guts to ask such a personal question.
In my mid-twenties it dawned on me that I might never meet a man I wanted to marry, so I

PRAYER For Today From The Upper Room

TUESDAY, JUNE 22, 1965.
Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. (Matthew 19:19)
PRAYER: Dear Father in heaven, teach us to love Thee as Thou dost love us -- gladly and generously. Show us the way to love our neighbor as we love ourselves. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Theme of the meeting on the University of Missouri campus was "The future belongs to those who plan", and speeches and workshops at the meetings were aimed at career exploration.

Today's Spanish Lesson

NOTE: "Hay", pronounced like our letter I, means "there is", "There are", "is there" or "are there". Simply by changing the inflection of the voice, this valuable "key" can be used as a question or as a statement. For example:
#1. - A) Is there any milk? B) Hay leche? C) I/LAY-chay.
#2. - A) There is milk. B) Hay leche. C) I/LAY-chay.
#3. - A) Is there any bread? B) -Hay pan? C) I/pahn.
If there is bread the answer is simply, "si hay" (see/I). If there is no bread the answer is, "no hay" (no/I).
This very useful aid is extensively used in Mexico and South American Countries, and it is perhaps the easiest method of communication:
#4. - A) Is there any beer? B) -Hay cerveza? C) I/sair-VAY-sah.
#5. - A) There is not any beer. B) No hay cerveza. C) no/I/sair-VAY-sah.
Isn't that simple? What a valuable aid to Spanish!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR
Mr. Charlie Blanton, Editor Daily Sikeston Standard Sikeston, Missouri
Dear Mr. Blanton:
One week ago today a most successful week closed for the two Oakwood Day Camps, Sikeston, Big Ridge, Vanduser and Matthews neighborhoods. Another very rewarding effort in the world of Girl Scouting. As we fold and pack away tents, sort and store equipment once more we directors feel the need to say a most sincere thank

Today In U. S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Tuesday, June 22, the 173rd day of 1965. There are 192 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1940, France signed an armistice with Germany -- in the same railroad car in which Germany had capitulated in 1918.

On this date In 1812, Napoleon ordered his army to attack Russia.

In 1815, Napoleon was forced to abdicate. He went into exile on the island of Elba.

In 1937, Joe Louis became world heavyweight boxing champion.

In 1941, Nazi forces invaded Russia.

In 1946, two PBos made the first jet-propelled air mail flights.

Ten years ago -- Robert Stevens resigned as Secretary of the Army.

Five years ago -- American scientists scored a new first in space by launching two instrument satellites, piggy-back fashion.

One year ago -- Premier Nikita Khrushchev received a diplomatically correct, but cool, reception when he arrived in Sweden.

Local Farmers Favor Stoneville

HAYTI, MISSOURI -- Cotton farmers in Scott County planted 29 per cent of their crop in the Stoneville strains. Fox 4 strains accounts for 23 per cent, and Deltapine strains 25 per cent. Rex accounts for 20 per cent.

These figures were revealed by the USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, Cotton Division at Hayti, Missouri. This variety survey is conducted annually.

Leading variety for the state is the Stoneville strains, which make up 50 per cent of the total acreage. Rex strains rank second with 19 per cent. Deltapine strains amount to 15 per cent, and other varieties the remainder. Total acreage allotment for Scott County is 16,128 acres for the 1965 crop. Last season the county produced 16,976 bales.

Q--How many dates are there on which Easter can occur?
A--There are 35, between March 22 and April 25.

Q--What was the real name of the author of "Alice in Wonderland"?
A--Charles Lutwidge Dodgson. He wrote under the pen name of Lewis Carroll.

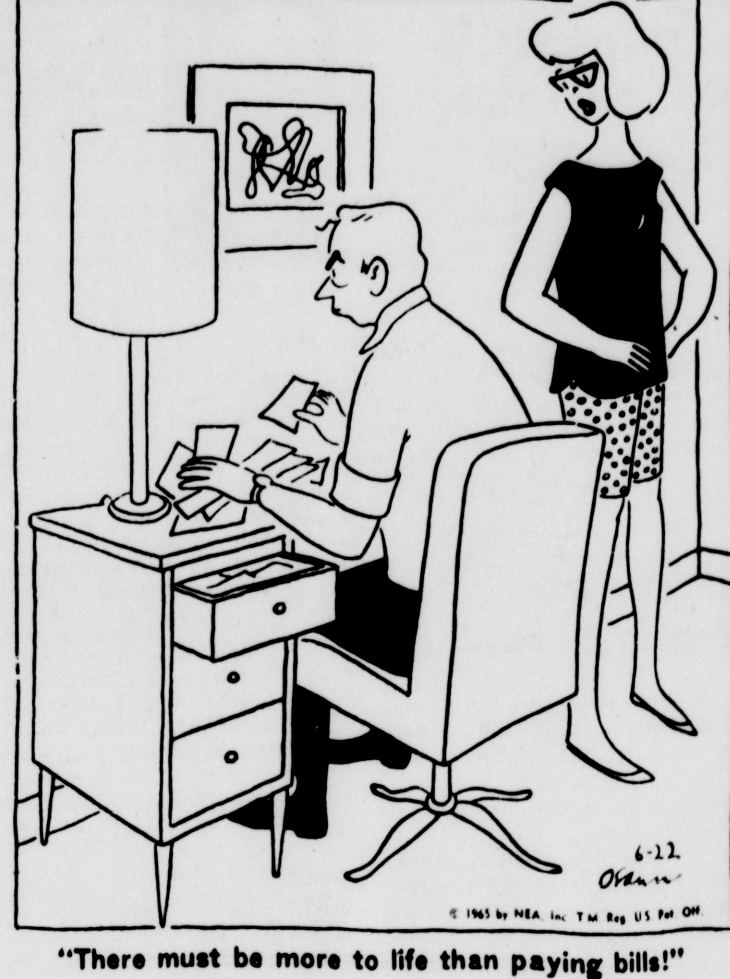

Q--Where is the mouth of a sea cucumber?
A--The mouth is at the center of the ring of tentacles.

Training Session For Morehouse Youth Program

MOREHOUSE--In preparation for the opening of the Neighborhood Youth Corps summer program to be held in Morehouse, four teachers attended the orientation conference in Jefferson City on June 12 and 13. These teachers, Mrs. Willa D. Alsop, Mrs. LaRita McIntyre, Fred Clover and John Bohannon will serve as supervisors - counselors for this school community project.

The opening session was held in the Chamber of the House of Representatives with an address by William White, manpower Specialist for the Kansas City Regional Office of the U.S. Department of Labor.

The afternoon session in the House Chamber was devoted to section training for the supervisor - counselors, under the supervision of Warren Moss, project director of the Statewide N. Y. C.

The evening session and banquet were held at the Ramada Inn. Lee T. Muth, assistant to the deputy director of the Field Operations Neighborhood Youth Corps was the speaker at this meeting.

On Sunday the supervisor-counselors again met at the Ramada Inn for a discussion and training session.

WHAT NEXT?

SUNDERLAND, England (AP) --An expectant mother has told a court that her craving for lobsters caused her fisherman husband to violate Britain's lobster law.

"It's all my fault," said Margaret Swinhoe, 36. "Every time I'm expecting I get a craving for something. This time it was lobsters."

"With Margaret it was chocolate eclairs, with Billy it was iced lollipops."

The judge fined William Swinhoe, 36, $5.60 for bringing ashore seven undersized lobsters.

Publisher Slaps Organized Labor

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A publisher accused organized labor of failing to co-operate with news media, especially newspapers.

"If we had to depend on unions for labor news, there would be a real scarcity," Thomas Vail, publisher of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, told about 1,500 delegates to the Communications Workers of America convention.

"We are sometimes accused of slanting stories, making whipping boys of union leaders, neglecting union news, giving business news the break," Vail said.

Two Cars Stolen In E Area

Two cars in the Troop E District were reported stolen Saturday, Highway Patrol officers said today.

A 1956 Chevrolet, black over white, was stolen Saturday from a used car lot at Portageville. When last seen, it was headed south on Highway 61.

A yellow 1953 Ford convertible, owned by Russell Parr of East Prairie, was stolen Saturday night at Charleston. The car's license number is ZF1-3577.

business district under water. Sand bags were piled around stores 10 blocks back from the river on the north side.

At Great Bend, store fronts were sandbagged as far as 15 blocks from the normally calm river channel.

Gov. John A. Love of Colorado called the flood "the greatest natural disaster" in that state's history and said he was considering calling a special flood relief session of the Colorado Legislature.

In a two-hour night session, the Senate killed one bill, passed and sent to the governor four others and referred two measures back to the House with minor changes.

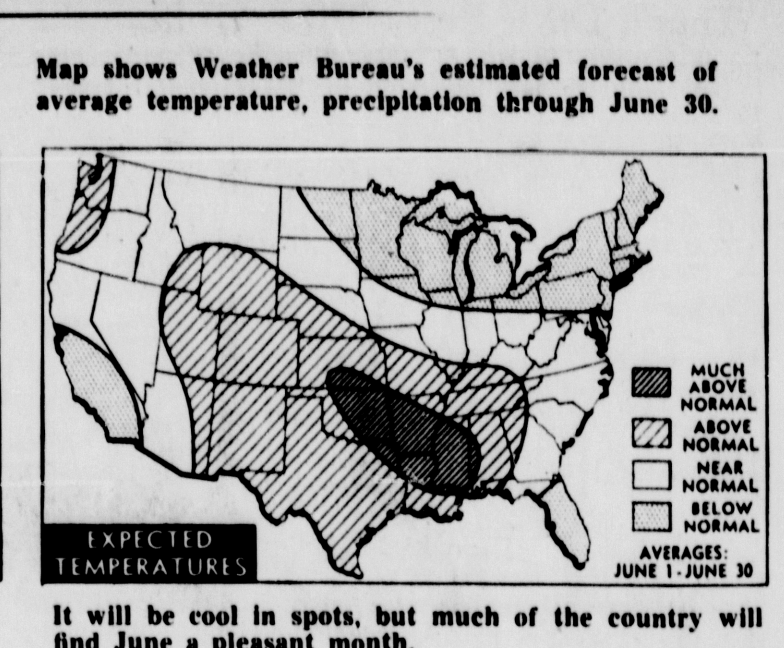

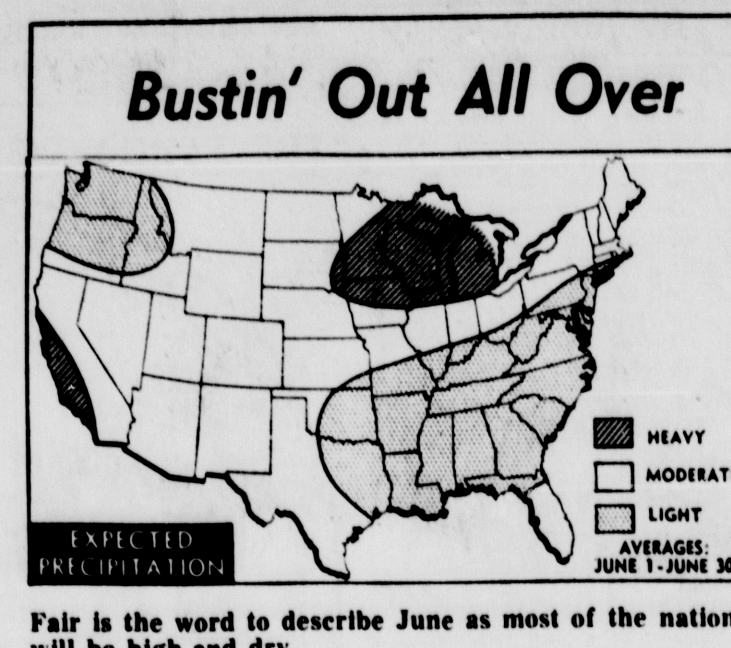

Killed was a bill to let St. Louis and Jackson counties set up pension plans for county employees.

It was defeated 11-15.

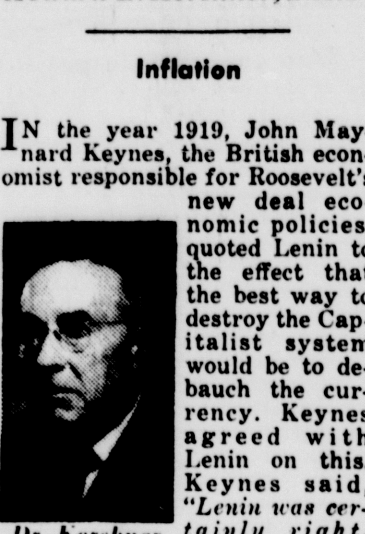

A proposed constitutional change passed by both houses would submit the same question to the voters.

Sent to the governor were bills to:

- Let sheriffs recover costs of returning mental patients to institutions.
- Eliminate all references to Lincoln University in Jefferson City as a Negro institution. Two bills would strike all distinction of race regarding students, faculty or administration.
- Let the Public Service Commission enter into reciprocity contracts on stickers just as it provided for license plates.

IT'S UP TO YOU By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

In the year 1919, John Maynard Keynes, the British economist responsible for Roosevelt's new deal economic policies, quoted Lenin to the effect that the best way to destroy the Capitalist system would be to de-bauch the currency. Keynes agreed with Lenin on this. Keynes said, "Lenin was certainly right. There is no subtler, no surer means of overturning the existing basis of society than to de-bauch the currency. The process engages all the hidden forces of economic law on the side of destruction, and does it in a manner which not one man in a million is able to diagnose."

ing inflationary pressures continue to develop in the American economy. Our dollar is now worth roughly 45¢ of 1940 purchasing power. Most of this inflation has been generated by continuing deficits in the federal budget. In 1951 our federal debt stood at 259 billion. Today it is nearly 315 billion.

The most important problem facing this nation today is this problem of inflation. Newspaper headlines continue to draw our attention to southeast Asia, the Dominican Republic, and other trouble spots throughout the world. All of these are important and we must be concerned about them, but meanwhile we should not overlook this problem of inflation which eats like a cancer at the heart of our economy and which could deal us a more tragic blow than all of our international enemies combined.

Come take advantage of Buick's hottest year!

We're in the business of selling cars. Buicks. And right now we're having one of our greatest sales years on record. We'd like to make it even better.

That's human nature. And there's only one way to do that. You know it. We know it. It boils down to giving you a bang up deal on any brand new Buick you set your heart on. And we've got them. Rivas, Electra 225's, Wildcats, LeSabres, Skylarks and Specials. In all the colors of the rainbow. Tops down or up. So, look—if you're in the mood to buy, see a Buick dealer. He'll make it worth your while.

Wouldn't you really rather go first class? Go Buick!

There's an authorized Buick dealer near you. See his Double-Checked used cars, too.
